Russia ready for rupee-rouble trade to bypass $

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

VISITING Russian foreign minister Sergey Lavrov on Friday said his country has started the process of bypassing the dollar and engaging in trade in national currencies with countries like India instead to counter Western sanctions following the war with Ukarine.

Lavrov is on a two-day visit to India where he met External Affairs Minister Dr S Jaishankar and Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

By trading in national currencies, "we will be able to bypass the artificial impediments illegal and unilateral sanctions of the West have created," Lavrov said. "It is absolutely clear that more and more transactions would be done through this system using national currencies, bypassing dollar, euro and other currencies," he added.

On the rupee-rouble payment system, he said, "many years ago we started moving in our relations with India, China and with other countries using the dollar, euro to more use of national currencies." Lavrov added that the rupee-rouble payment system could be used now to trade oil, military hardware and other goods.

He also said Russia would be ready to supply India any goods, as they already have good bilateral relations with the respective ministries of trade and finance. "This relates also to the area of military-technical cooperation. We have no doubt that a solution would be found and the respective ministries are working on it," he said. P9

Rahul calls on leaders to unite, win state polls

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

SENIOR Congress leader and former AICC president, Rahul Gandhi, on Friday set a target for the Congress in Karnataka of winning "not less than 150 seats" in the 224-member assembly in the upcoming polls. He has asked the party's senior leaders to work unitedly to achieve the goal of bringing Congress back to power in Karnataka, which he referred to as a "natural Congress state".

Speaking to party leaders, he said, "Karnataka is a natural Congress state. It will not be difficult to win 150 seats in the upcoming assembly elections if all the leaders work together. So the Congress should not win even one seat less than 150 seats in the upcoming elections."

In a hint that could not be missed at being targeted at the apparent disunited functioning of the senior Congress leaders in the state, Gandhi said Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah, KPCC President DK Shivakumar and Opposition Leader in Rajya Sabha Mallikarjuna Kharge have to work together, and added that the party needs to fight with the right strategy. P4

Shah tells party to be ready with roadmap

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

HOURS after senior Congress leader Rahul Gandhi exhorted his party leaders to win 150 Assembly seats, Home Minister Amit Shah, too, discussed the BJP's strategy to cross the 150-mark in the coming Assembly polls in Karnataka.

Shah directed the state leaders to prepare a roadmap in the run-up to the polls. The party will constitute a team to talk to leaders from other parties who are keen on joining the BJP.

On Friday evening, Shah chaired the BJP state unit core committee meeting in Bengaluru, and discussed the party's poll strategies with senior leaders, including Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and former CM B S Yediyurappa.

Speaking to reporters after the meeting, BJP National General Secretary C T Ravi said the current political developments in the state were discussed, and the party is confident of winning over 150 seats. "Last time, we won 104 seats and that should not happen again. Now, we have 120 seats, and it has to cross 150," Ravi said. P4

State's revenue collection crosses ₹1 lakh crore

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

GST collection in Karnataka for the financial year ending March 2022 stood at Rs 8,750 crore, a neat recovery from March 2021, when it was a mere Rs 7,915 crore.

Despite this, some experts said collection is not as good as expected — GST for March is nearly Rs 426 crore short compared to February when collection was Rs 9,176 crore, a good Rs 176 crore above the psychological barrier of Rs 9,000 crore.

Commissioner of Commercial Taxes C Shikha disagreed. "The State Goods and Service Tax, or SGST, for March 2022 is 13 per cent higher than SGST revenue for the same month last year. The trend is tracked by comparing month-on-month data, as the number of days varies. March collection is nothing but returns filed for February activities," she said.

The total revenue collection, including GST, has crossed Rs 1 lakh crore, said Shikha. CONTINUED ON: P4

GST COLLECTION RISES TO AN ALL-TIME HIGH IN MARCH

New Delhi: The Goods and Services Tax collections soared to an all-time high of Rs 1.42 lakh crore in March as the fiscal year-end frenzy to meet targets saw strong sales and crackdown on evasions brought in more taxes. With the record collection, the Centre's GST mop-up has exceeded the revised budget target of Rs 5.70 lakh crore set for the previous fiscal ended March 31, 2022. P13

Move to Hyderabad: KTR after startup founder flays B'luru bad infra

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

TWITTERATI bashed India's 'Silicon Valley' Bengaluru's pathetic physical infrastructure, especially poor roads, after Ravish Naresh, COO of Housing.com and founder of Khatabook, complained about roads, and other amenities on social media.

Telangana IT and Industries Minister KT Rama Rao reacted to the post and asked him to "pack his bags and move to Hyderabad" as it has better physical and equally good social infrastructure.

Ravish had recently tweeted: "Startups in HSR/Koramangala are already generating billions of $ of taxes, yet they have bad roads, almost daily power cuts, poor quality water supply, unusable footpaths. Many rural areas now have better basic infra than India's Silicon Valley (sic). Also the nearest airport is ~3 hrs away in peak traffic (sic)"

Rao joined the conversation, saying Hyderabad has better amenities. "Our airport is one of the best and getting in and out of the city is a breeze. More importantly our government's focus is on three Is: innovation, infrastructure and inclusive growth," he tweeted.

Twitterati is criticised the authorities and even suggested ideas for improvement.

"Why wouldn't startup try and move to cities which are tier 2...where governments are looking for investment..the negation power of startups will be greater..airports are less crowded and farthest points 30min away," tweeted Anjana Khandury.

Meanwhile, Rajesh Bhattad said, "IT industry contributes over 8% of India's GDP + pays taxes (more like: are paid salary after tax cuts) and yet are taken for granted. Perhaps the reason is very simple: IT folks don't associate themselves with a group. There's no union of sorts that takes a stand."

While the recent report released in February by real estate company Colliers and CRE Matrix showed that Bengaluru had a 34 per cent start-up office leasing share during the 2019-21 period and Koramangala, HSR Layout and Indiranagar were the preferred locations.

However, a senior official from CN Ashwath Narayan's office said, "Bengaluru will soon have the best infrastructure. The Metro and the Smart City works will soon be done. Startups and IT companies need not worry. The shortcomings will be looked into and sorted."

Big fat BBMP budget sees midnight release

Allocation exceeds the set estimate under the recently passed Fiscal Responsibility Act, says ex-councillor

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE late night release of the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) budget on Thursday has raised many questions from experts, citizens and former corporators. They also termed the whole act as a late night thriller movie release.

That is not all. Former corporators have also questioned the amount allocated in the BBMP budget in the light of the recently passed Fiscal Responsibility Act. "As per the Act, BBMP budget should not exceeded the previous budget by 10 per cent. But this 2022-23 budget exceeds the set estimate. Many legal and financial experts are closely assessing it and could also challenge it in court," said a former councillor, requesting anonymity.

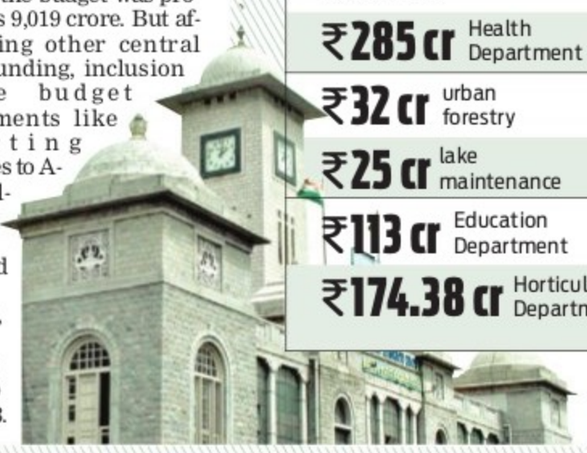
Councillors and experts slammed the BBMP and termed it as "death of democracy" and said that officials have no accountability and responsibility.

"The bureaucrats are bosses at the moment and they are having their way with everything. They are not following the democratic path in releasing the budget," another ex-corporator pointed out.

However, others differ. They state that despite pressure from MLAs, the budget has been released at the end of the financial year. "Earlier there were instances where budget would be presented in April or May, but this time it is March. However the way in which it has been done is not right. It has to be appreciated that the budget has been uploaded on the website which the BBMP would shy away from soon after its release," said former Congress corporator Gunashekhar.

BBMP officials defended and said: "The budget was approved by the government around 8pm and after a lot deliberation, it was decided to upload it without any formal announcement. We did not want to make any more changes in the budget, so it was uploaded immediately."

BBMP Special Commissioner, Finance, Thulasi Maddineni, told The New Indian Express that earlier the budget was proposed for Rs 9,019 crore. But after assessing other central and state funding, inclusion of state budget announcements like converting B-Khata sites to A-Khata, development expenditure and provisional expenses, the budget amount has increased to ₹10,48,428.08.



BUDGET PURSE

₹ 6,911.49 cr	PWD
₹60cr	for Arterial & sub-arterial roads maintenance
₹40cr	for SWD maintenance
₹1,469 cr	for SWM
₹100 cr	for operation, establishment of landfills as per NGT
₹75 cr	for scientific landfill at balance pits of Mittiganahalli and bunds development
₹374.34 cr	for Social Welfare Department
₹285 cr	Health Department
₹32 cr	urban forestry
₹25 cr	lake maintenance
₹113 cr	Education Department
₹174.38 cr	Horticulture Department

The intention was to complete the exercise before March-end. Health and education sectors have been given priority in the budget. We hope that the state government will give faster clearance to the budget as it has been made with their consent.

Gaurav Gupta, BBMP Chief Commissioner

The budget had to be uploaded online at night possibly to avoid ruling party and opposition MLAs from seeing it and wrangling about the allocations to their constituencies. Allocations should be based on the level of human development and social and physical infrastructure in and not on which party MLA represents what constituency.

Kathyayini Chamaraj, civic expert

I think it is very good that the budget was released before the financial year formally closed. It appears to be an attempt to present a realistic budget. We hope allocations to ward committees will be followed up with notifications on ensuring citizens voice, an intrinsic part of the budget implementation, like they undertook last year. The new FRBM rules will be a game changer in how BBMP's budget planning and implementation will take place once it is applied.

Proposal to hike deviation penalty to 15%

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

TO ensure more funds in the civic body's kitty, along with the budget, the officials have proposed that the state government approve the plan to increase the property deviation penalty collection percentage from five per cent to 15 per cent.

A senior BBMP official said the urban development department has given an approval for this. "As BBMP has always stressed that there should be aggressive property tax collection and the government is also keen on collecting penalties from improper constructions, this proposal has been chalked out. The increase in collection of deviation penalty is for buildings, to start with," the official said.

This has come at a time when the Karnataka High Court has asked BBMP to submit details of all illegal and unauthorised buildings. As the BBMP officials added that this is a smaller step of the Akrama-Sakrama scheme, they are looking for using the collection as a reserve in their kitty.

Also, for the first time, to ensure that afforestation of parks and medians is done and spaces are well maintained, the ward wise list of all parks and contractors maintaining them along with the cost is being made public.

To stop PUBG pal, boy makes hoax bomb call

ENS @Bengaluru

A 12-year-old boy, addicted to PUBG, called up the railway police a couple of days ago, and made a hoax bomb threat, delaying trains by two hours. His objective was to prevent his classmate and PUBG partner from boarding the Kacheguda Express from the Yelahanka railway station.

According to railway sources, the railway helpline 139 received a call around 2 pm on Wednesday about a bomb in the station. Immediately, the station was cordoned off by the Railway Protection Force (RPF). A thorough security check by an anti-sabotage squad and Dog Squad revealed that the threat was fake.

"Repeated attempts to call back was in vain as the phone was switched off. However, the last location showed a house at Vinayak Nagar in Yelahanka. The call was made by a PUBG-addicted boy from the phone his parents had given him. His intention was to stop his classmate from boarding the train so that they can continue playing the game," said a source.

The checks delayed all trains from Yelahanka station by nearly two hours, said Divisional Railway Manager, Bengaluru Division, Shyam Singh. "Our control received the call by 2.37 pm. All checks were done and the State police Bomb Disposal squad gave us written consent to operate our trains by 4.15 pm. We were able to restart our train operations by 5 pm," he said.

The boy's parents were called to the station and was asked to advice their child. Officers in plainclothes visited their residence and counselled the boy. Since he is a minor, no action would be taken against him, the source added.

PETER VIDAL

02nd April : It's Saturday today, the Jewish holy day. It always interests me that the Muslim holiday - Friday - the Jewish and the Christian - Sunday - all follow in a sequence. It's no coincidence, but the result of ancient astrological arguments about which planet is most important - Venus (Friday), Saturn (Saturday) or the Sun (Sunday). So now you know - it's all in the stars!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
This is not a day for adventure, especially not for bold journeys to the edges of the known universe! Rather, it's a time to do what must be done, fulfilling all your many duties and obligations. Otherwise you'll be caught out later when the reckoning finally arrives!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
If you wish, you may coast along today, happy to put certain essential affairs on to auto-pilot. You should use this opportunity to relax, especially if you're about to launch a new professional venture. Don't wait around while others make the running.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Work and the big wide world may be more enticing, but it will be essential to deal with necessary tasks at home. To this end, I would advise patience and restraint, although please do set aside whatever time is needed for a spot of romantic day-dreaming.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You should remember that you are still inclined to imagine all sorts of things which are not true. In general, the fantasy-level in your solar chart has declined dramatically, but it's still not clear what is true and what is wish-fulfilment. That's the main reason why a little caution is advisable when you're making major commitments.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Today's delicate lunar alignments are truly splendid in many ways and, under normal circumstances, it would help you to bring personal goals to a point of no return. This time around you will have to move like greased lightning to save the day. Get on with it!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
The burning question now is whether you should take the initiative or not. Probably, the only way for you to get what you want is to accept that just for now you must shoulder more of the burden. But then you're used to doing more than your fair share. Perhaps this time you'll get proper appreciation.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
By all means keep your feelings to yourself, and don't worry if other people complain. They may have a right to know what you are doing, but they have absolutely no right to peer into your deepest emotions. What you need to do now is decide what it's safe to tell partners, and what you have to keep to yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You may have to swallow your pride and admit that someone else may be right after all. That doesn't mean that you should accept anything less than the best at work. Individuals applying for jobs should give a hundred and ten percent! Complacency and over-confidence should be avoided!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Do consider certain ethical questions while you still have time. If you wish to force others to raise their standards of behaviour, you will have to do so by setting an example, so there's nothing to be gained by preaching. You need to listen to others first and make up your mind later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You are now entering a month-long financial cycle that is really quite stunning. You may even be able to sort out your long-term security, once and for all. Already, you may be discovering clues that a partner is more ready to listen to reason.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Macho Mars has a role to play this morning, while gentle Venus steps in this afternoon. These movements won't signify changes today, but they do indicate that over the next twenty-four hours you will enter a phase that is confident, assertive and hopefully successful.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You are always happy to let other people wait on you, and today offers you an ideal chance to take time off while others do your dirty work. Please put your feet up while partners do the running around. Keep an eye on their progress though, and be ready to intervene if they're in danger of creating a real mess!

THOUGH some states have decided to stop penalising people for not wearing masks, as Covid-19 cases continue to drop, the Karnataka government is in a fix as the Technical Advisory Committee (TAC) has said a strict 'No' to do away with the mandatory mask rule in the state. However, the state government has to finally decide whether to issue an advisory or notification under the Disaster Management Act, said TAC experts.

> All public activities have opened up ... so exposure is high. The current testing strategy is only to test symptomatic people, so asymptomatic people are not identified
> TAC members

"We have recommended to the state not to drop the mask mandate. Though we are aware that several states have withdrawn the mask mandate, the Centre's guidelines are clear that each state can take its own decision, based on local assessment of the situation. Our committee has said wearing of face masks must continue in closed spaces, crowded areas and hospitals," said Dr MK Sudarshan, Chairman, TAC.

According to TAC members, the situation may have eased in the state but "we are not free from Covid-19. All public activities have opened up, including international travel, so exposure is high. The current testing strategy is only to test symptomatic people, so asymptomatic people are not identified. The third wave is over but Covid is not over", Sudarshan explained.

A surge in cases in many countries has been noted, and there is free flow of international traffic. Only 2 per cent of passenger samples is taken randomly, and with the possibility of a fourth wave in June, TAC experts decided to continue with the mask mandate in Karnataka.

Meanwhile, Health and Family Welfare Department Commissioner D Randeep said, "Based on TAC's recommendation, the health department has also said that mask mandate should continue. The final call will be taken by the minister," he said.

Doctors TNIE spoke to had mixed responses over the mask mandate. While a majority said the onus must now be on the public on wearing masks in public places, some of them also said the mask mandate can be dropped, except in hospitals.

Dr Jacob John T, virologist, CMC Vellore, said, "In public places, the mandate can go but there can be active promotion of mask-wearing in all hospital premises, outpatient clinics and all queues and waiting areas. We can even make it mandatory for staff and patients, relatives, visitors etc."

Doctors say that masking is the second-most effective intervention after vaccination, when it comes to preventing new Covid infections.

Minister for Health and Medical Education Dr K Sudhakar said the decision regarding this will be taken soon after going through the TAC recommendation.

Holidays, exams stall vax drive in schools

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

SUMMER holidays, examinations and Ugadi holidays dampened the vaccination drive for children aged 12-14 years in schools, which were given permission to start vaccinating children of this age group, from April 1 onwards.

According to statistics released by the health department on Friday, the state managed to vaccinate a total of 98,689 children aged 12-14 years. This number includes vaccination at PHCs and in schools. "Several schools are closed for holidays and examinations are going on for SSLC students. Many parents are sceptical and need to be convinced through a parent-teacher meeting. We are working on these nuances," said a senior health official.

The state has set a target of vaccinating 20 lakh children in the 12-14 age group, and so far, has vaccinated 9,83,944 children. However, in districts like Kodagu, there was a delay in supply of vaccines which curbed the drive in schools, and was put off to Monday. "The DDPI was instructed to draw up a micro plan to conduct vaccination drives across schools in the district. We have not received the plan yet but have a preliminary plan and it will be executed from Monday," confirmed Dr Gopinath, Reproductive and Child Health Officer. In Bengaluru, the drive was taken up in 53 schools, and 4,278 children were vaccinated.

"Some schools took permission for the drive two days before holidays began, and vaccinated the children. The government school in Nelamangala completed the drive on Thursday," said a doctor from Nelamangala Government Hospital.

FESTIVAL RUSH

Cooking meat on Varsha Todaku? It may be costly

DONNA EVA @Bengaluru

WITH Varsha Todaku on Sunday, the state is getting ready to indulge in meat to celebrate the festival.

Mutton and chicken prices in Bengaluru are tentatively expected to start rising from Sunday onwards, but shop owners are unsure by how much. However, they are in agreement that the prices will increase.

According to various butcher shops in Bengaluru, as of Friday, mutton was priced between Rs 700 and Rs 750 a kg, with chicken going for Rs 250 to Rs 300 per kg, depending on whether it is bought skinless or with skin. Prices vary daily, but have shot up in the last month or so, following a rise in production cost on the side of poultry, sheep and goat farmers as well as factors like the on-going Ukraine-Russia war.

With Varsha Todaku around the corner, shopkeepers say that mutton prices may increase to around Rs 800. "We cannot really be sure since price movements are determined by the factors of that specific day. At present, the price is at Rs 720 a kg for mutton and Rs 280 a kg for chicken, and if prices jump, we will only know on Sunday," said Abdul Khuddus, the proprietor of a mutton shop in Bengaluru.

However, some are under the impression that prices might not increase by much. "We don't have much information on the increase, but I think it will stay the same, but prices fluctuate often so we can never predict the cost," said MM Nasir from Popular Mutton Shop.

Earlier, especially during 2020, in the peak of the pandemic, mutton prices hit Rs 1,000 a kg. With Ramzan to follow almost immediately after, prices are expected to rise as demand for meat increases.

Govt implementing Siddaganga seer's ideals, claims Amit Shah

During visit to Mutt, praises Swamiji's work for the people, lists Centre's achievements

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah on Friday claimed that the Narendra Modi-led government provided free food to 80 crore people during the Covid-19 pandemic, built houses for 3 crore people in seven years and implemented the New Education Policy (NEP), and thus upheld the ideals of Sri Shivakumara Swamiji of Siddaganga Mutt.

"The Swamiji, who is regarded as a 'Living God' and modern Basavanna, has uplifted the lives of people by providing free food, shelter and education. The Modi government has implemented the NEP which gives children the right to study technical and medical education in their mother tongue," he remarked, speaking at the 115th birth anniversary of the Swamiji at the mutt, after paying tribute to the 'gadduge', the divine tomb. "Some great people give a message to society through their preachings, others by their knowledge, but the Swamiji gave with his work. Some holy places took shape based on mythology, but the Siddaganga Mutt was shaped out of the Swamiji's work. He served for 88 years as the head, until his last breath," Shah observed.

He recalled the saying of former PM Atal Behari Vajpayee that "there is Ganga in the North and Siddaganga in the South". There is a belief that taking a dip in the Ganga gets rid of sins of previous lives, and visiting Siddaganga evokes the sacrosanct work done in previous lives, he said.

Sri Siddalinga Swamiji appreciated the Modi government for its commitment to bring Indian students from war-torn Ukraine home safely, through Operation Ganga. "Modi and Shah have been working as Rama and Lakshmana," he remarked.

Sutturu Mutt head Sri Shivarathrideshikendra Swamiji was all praise for Shah's political acumen, especially winning elections.

MUSLIM COUPLE NAMES KID SHIVAMANI

On the occasion of the 115th birth anniversary of Sri Shivakumara Swamiji, a Muslim couple reportedly named their child 'Shivamani', at an event organised by Bengaluru-based Shivakumara Swamiji Annadana Sewa Trust in Tumakuru on Friday. Shaista and Zameer were among 115 couples who named their newborns with the prefix 'Shiva'. But fearing media glare, the couple fled the venue, a source said.

Shah lays stone for medical college, hosp

The Central government is keen on providing health-oriented programmes to the nation, Union Home Minister Amit Shah said. Addressing a gathering at Sathya Sai Village, after laying the foundation stone for construction of a 400-bed hospital, Shah said these health-oriented programmes will help the needy. Crores of people across the nation benefitted from Ayushman Bharat, Shah said, adding that the nation is a step ahead in treating patients with hi-tech facilities, and keen on increasing medical seats for students. He also said the health system in rural parts has developed more than expected. He lauded Sadguru Madhusudhan Sai for taking up medical facilities by constructing a medical college and a 400-bed hospital. — V Velayudham @ Muddenahalli

Dr GP skips Cong meet, shares stage with Shah

At a time when the Congress top brass was holding a brainstorming session with party leader Rahul Gandhi in Bengaluru, another senior party MLA and former Deputy Chief Minister Dr G Parameshwara was not a part of it. Instead, Parameshwara was sharing the stage with Union Home Minister Amit Shah at the 115th birth anniversary celebrations of Sri Shivakumara Swamiji at Siddaganga Mutt in Tumakuru. Not just that. Parameshwara was also "introduced" to Shah by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai. Bommai, who shares a good rapport with Parameshwara, went to him and the duo were seen chatting for a while. Later, he held Parameshwara's hands and took him to Shah and introduced him.

Need for reforms in co-op sector, says HM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

UNION Minister for Home and Cooperation Amit Shah said the Union Government will introduce a new legislation to help Primary Agriculture Credit Societies that are facing liquidation. He added that there is a need for reformation in the cooperative sector. He was speaking after inaugurating the 'Cooperative Conference' here on Friday. Shah said the Centre has prepared the draft rules and the same will be shared with the states soon.

Noting that the Centre had given importance to the cooperative sector by establishing a separate ministry, Shah said there are plans to prepare a national cooperative database. "The government will also be establishing an exclusive university to study cooperative management," he said. "There should be more transparency in the election and recruitment process to the cooperatives," he said. Shah, who released the logo of the Nandini Ksheera Samridhi Sahakara Bank, lauded the State Government's initiative of establishing a cooperative bank only for milk producers. Referring to the central project of issuing credit cards to farmers, Shah said, "Karnataka is the first state to start such a bank. I want Karnataka to take up credit card project as a pilot and pave way for its extension in other states". CM Basavaraj Bommai said the government has decided to computerise all 5,775 Primary Agricultural Cooperative Banks in the state in a year.

'Blast' in underground cables diverts convoy

ENS @ Bengaluru

A short circuit in the underground cables of Bangalore Electricity Supply Company followed by thick smoke on the road opposite Mount Carmel College in Vasanth Nagar sent the security apparatus into a tizzy, forcing Union Minister Amit Shah's convoy with 'Z' category security to be diverted from its original route. Shah was on his way to the Palace Grounds, the venue of the Cooperation Conference he was to inaugurate by entering the premises from the Palace entrance.

The explosion was heard at around 4.30 pm. The bomb squad, dog squad and security officials rushed to the spot to check the cause of the blast. Shah arrived at the venue at around 5.15 pm from HAL airport where his helicopter landed from Chitradurga. Shah's convoy was to come along Palace Road, but the news of the blast and smoke forced a change from the original route that passes the location of the 'blast'.

City Police Commissioner Kamal Pant said Bescom authorities cut the power to minimise any possible damage. Electrical inspectorate with BESCOM authorities examined the spot but are yet to ascertain the reason for the incident, although they admitted to the cables not being checked ahead of Shah's visit.

'No discussion on snap polls'

"Based on his (Shah's) guidance, a roadmap will be prepared to win the elections," Ravi said. In the 2018 assembly polls, the BJP fell short of getting a simple majority on its own and the party formed the government after some Congress and JDS leaders joined the party. They were re-elected legislators in the bypolls. Ravi said the party will identify leaders in other parties, who have concern for society and can strengthen the BJP. Many leaders from other parties want to join the BJP. A team will be constituted to talk to such leaders and induct them as per the party's needs, he said. Ruling out the possibility of early elections in the state, Ravi said they are always prepared, but elections will be held in April 2023.

Responding to a question on Rahul Gandhi exhorting his party leaders to win 150 seats, Ravi said the Congress lost its deposit in 387 seats in Uttar Pradesh, and if Rahul campaigns for the Congress in Karnataka, the BJP will certainly win the polls. BJP state president Nalin Kumar Kateel said current developments in the state, measures to strengthen the organisation and preparations for the polls were discussed. "There was no discussion on early elections and cabinet expansion," he clarified.

Mid-day meal scheme to be renamed after seer

The mid-day meal scheme of the State Government for school children will bear the name of later Shivakumara Swamiji and an order in this regard will be issued soon, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai has said. However, the present head of the mutt, Sri Siddalinga Swamji, opined there was no need to rename the scheme, as the government has already been implementing the scheme taking inspiration from the mutt which has been feeding the needy for several decades now.

BJP govt most corrupt: Rahul

Gandhi referred to the BJP government in Karnataka as "an immoral government" formed by the "power of money", and said the government in Karnataka is the most corrupt government in the country.

"And it is not us who are saying that it is a '40 per cent government', it is the Contractors' Association which is saying this," he said, stressing that it would be an irony if Prime Minister Narendra Modi came to Karnataka and spoke about tackling corruption.

Referring to unemployment, Gandhi said the present BJP government cannot provide employment to people at any cost because it has destroyed small and medium scale industries which are capable of providing employment. "Today's India is not able to provide employment to its youth. This is a loss to the country and will pose a danger in the future. The BJP will never talk about these issues. The BJP's intention is to take away the money from the poor and give it to a few big businessmen," he charged.

He blamed the BJP for bringing conflict among religious communities and castes. "If the BJP is seeking to break society, the work of the Congress is to build the society," he said.

Commenting on the overall trend, she said, "The Commercial Taxes department had undertaken anti-evasion activities, especially action against fake billers, ramped up scrutiny and this has been contributing to enhanced GST." Revenue collection for this year -- which includes taxes collected by the Commercial Taxes department, including GST, Karnataka Sales Tax mostly from petrol and diesel sales, Professional Tax and compensation for this year -- crossed Rs 1 lakh crore as on March 31. Shikha said it is clearly a strong sign of post-pandemic recovery.

BATTLE READY

After Sumalatha's barb, HDK fields Nikhil from Mandya

K SHIVA KUMAR @Mysuru

SENDING a strong message, former Chief Minister and JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy announced that his son Nikhil will fight from the Mandya Lok Sabha constituency as the ruling BJP gears up for the Assembly election with battle lines already drawn in the Vokkaliga stronghold. This has pitted actress Sumalatha Ambreesh, who recorded a resounding victory in the 2019 Lok Sabha polls, against JDS youth president, Nikhil. Sumalatha's victory came on a sympathy wave as an independent candidate with the campaign steadily strengthened by the support of actors Yash and Darshan along with a brigade of Ambreesh fans.

In an apparent retort to Sumalatha for her statement that Nikhil will fail to win a Zilla Panchayat seat without invoking his grandfather HD Deve Gowda or his father's name and accusing JDS MLAs of being noncooperative, Kumaraswamy announced his son as candidate from Madnya.

Kumaraswamy maintained that Nikhil lost the Lok Sabha polls due to conspiracy of the Congress, BJP and Raitha Sangha, and claimed that the people are waiting to reply in the elections since the sitting MP, who sailed through due to the sympathy factor, has failed to fulfil people's aspirations.

He exuded confidence of humbling Sumalatha. Vokkaligas are with the JDS despite KPCC chief DK Shivakumar working on plans to cut into the community's vote bank in the Old Mysuru region, he added.

Although the people of Mandya revere HD Deve Gowda, said Ambreesh Fans' Club president Somashekar, they are against Kumaraswamy, who has not inherited any of his father's qualities. He claimed that Sumalatha will win for the second time against Nikhil even if Kumaraswamy contests the polls, and observed that the announcement will fuel polarisation of votes in favour of Sumalatha, who has drawn the attention of both Centre and State on the plight of farmers in Mandya district.

Regretting that the elections in a democracy which should have been celebrated as festivals have led to corruption and deterioration of values, Legislative Assembly Speaker Vishweshwara Hegde Kageri stressed the need for concerted efforts from all stakeholders in order to bring in a positive change in this direction.

Generational shift in CPM with 23rd party meet

Leaders above 75 yrs to go, except Pinarayi

ANIL S @T'Puram

THE CPM's 23rd Party Congress scheduled to begin on April 6 is set to bring in some major structural changes in the party as well as a generational shift in leadership. While incumbent Sitaram Yechury is set to continue as general secretary, a few Politburo members including veteran S Ramachandran Pillai are set to make way for fresh faces.On the other hand, a structural change is also on cards as the party is likely to reintroduce the central secretariat - a party forum which would be centred in Delhi - and would operate above the central committee, and assist the Politburo.

With the CPM government in Kerala enjoying continuity in governance, a first in its history, the Kerala party will have a bigger say in policy affairs as well as selection of new faces. Induction of fresh blood into the Politburo and Central Committee is on the cards, as a number of CPM leaders above 75 years are set to make way for new faces this time around. Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan would undoubtedly be granted exemption.

"Inducting youngsters in their 40s and early 50 have now become a necessity, especially with the upper age limit of 75 years. These leaders should get at least 10 years with the seniors, and only then will they be able to lead the party in the coming years. That's why more youngsters are being chosen. It's not just about giving opportunities, but also about fostering the party's fighting spirit," pointed out a senior leader.

In view of the party policy of promoting youngsters to the top, it won't be surprising if some youngsters make it to the central committee and secretariat.

PM DESERVES NOBEL PRIZE IF AFSPA WITHDRAWN FULLY FROM N-E, SAYS IROM

BALA CHAUHAN @Bengaluru

RIGHTS activist Irom Sharmila welcomed the Centre's decision to partially withdraw the Armed Forces (Special Powers) Act (AFSPA) from parts of three Northeast states -- Assam, Nagaland and Manipur, and said the "colonial" act should be completely withdrawn from wherever it is imposed in the country.

"Prime Minister Narendra Modi will deserve the Nobel Peace Prize if he rolls back AFSPA completely. The Centre will win the hearts of the people who have suffered immeasurably under the Act. It is a colonial legacy and has no place in a democratic country like India," Irom told The New Indian Express.

"The law is no solution to insurgency. Though I have not personally suffered, I have seen innocent people -- rickshaw pullers, petty shopkeepers -- being brutally assaulted by the Army simply because they may have resembled some insurgents. The government should withdraw this law completely and instead, invest in the development of the Northeast. In the name of fighting insurgency, crores of rupees are wasted which could have been utilised for providing education, employment, building of roads and the overall development of the region. It's time for the government to repeal AFSPA and win the hearts of people," she added. She narrated about an incident wherein 10 civilians were allegedly gunned down by security forces at a bus stop in Malom near Imphal in 2000, a few days before a peace rally was organised in Imphal in which she was participating.

The Centre's decision to partially roll back AFSPA came three months after it constituted a high-level committee to examine the possibility of lifting the Act from Nagaland.

HAL scales new peak, sees revenue of over Rs 24K cr

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AEROSPACE giant Hindustan Aeronautics Ltd (HAL) has recorded the highest ever revenue of over Rs 24,000 crore (provisional and unaudited) for the financial year ending March 31, 2022, registering a 6 % revenue growth over the previous financial year. The corresponding figure for the previous year stood at Rs 22,755 crore.

"Despite the challenges of the second wave of Covid-19 during the first quarter of the year and the consequent production loss, the Company could meet the targeted revenue growth with improved performance during the balance period of the year", said R Madhavan, Chairman &

Managing Director, HAL.

HAL achieved record revenue with production of 44 new helicopters/aircraft, 84 new engines, overhauling 203 aircraft / helicopters and 478 engines.

Recently, HAL bagged a contract for production of 15 Light Combat Helicopters (LCH), 10 for IAF and five for the Indian Army at a cost of Rs 3,887 crore along with infrastructure sanctions worth Rs 377 crore.

The second wave of Covid-19 had forced HAL to declare a phased lockdown at various divisions during April and May 2021. The employees had put in additional hours in June and July 2021 to compensate for the loss of man hours due to the lockdown.

Further, based on the improved financial performance and cash flow position, the credit rating agencies, Credit Analysis & Research Ltd (CARE)Ratings and ICRA Limited, have upgraded the Company's credit ratings from AA+ Stable to AAA/Stable during the financial year.

Considering the improved financial performance during the financial year, HAL paid an interim dividend of Rs 40 per share representing 400 per cent on the face value of Rs 10 per share during FY 2021-22.

Rape accused escapes from police custody

THREE teams have been formed to arrest a notorious rowdy sheeter who escaped from the custody of the DJ Halli police when he was taken for medical examination.

The accused was arrested in the wee hours of Thursday on charges of raping a married woman from Nepal. The victim's husband works as a security guard.

The police had taken the accused and the victim for mandatory medical examination. Stalin demands immediate release of ₹20,860 cr dues from Centre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

CHIEF Minister MK Stalin on Friday urged the Union government to immediately release ₹20,860.40 crore towards pending GST compensation and many government schemes so that Tamil Nadu could overcome the fiscal crisis. He made this demand during his meeting with Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman in New Delhi.

The State government is facing severe financial stress despite easing out of Covid-19. The pandemic necessitated additional expenditure towards upgrading of health infrastructure; purchase of medical equipment and drugs; and implementation of welfare schemes for the vulnerable sections, the Chief Minister said in the memorandum submitted to the Union Finance Minister.

The Chief Minister sought early release of the balance basic grant of ₹548.76 crore and performance grant of ₹2,029.22 crore as performance grant under local body grant recommended by the 14th Finance Commission.

He said the State, during the introduction of GST, had accepted to forego its fiscal autonomy with an assurance from the Union government that its revenues would be protected. In the last five years, however, there has been a wide gap between the actual revenues realised and the protected revenues guaranteed.

3 dancers pull out of temple fest

MANOJ VISWANATHAN @ Kochi

THE authorities of Irinjalakuda Koodalamanikyam temple, who drew ire from various quarters for denying danseuse V P Manisya a chance to perform as she was a non-Hindu, has been dealt another blow.

Three Bharathanatyam dancers – Anju Aravind, Karthik Manikandan and Devika Sajeevan – have pulled out of the temple's National Festival of Dance and Music, to be organised from April 15 to 25, in solidarity with Mansiya.

Anju was to perform from 6pm to 7.15pm on April 21, Karthik --- who is from Bengaluru -- at 6.45pm on April 17 and Devika --- winner of the Susheel Keerthi Award in 2011 -- at 4pm on April 24. "As I feel the need to stand with fellow artists who faced unfortunate incidents, I choose to refrain from performing at the Koodalmanikyam dance festival," said Devika.

"The temple removed some artists from the list of performers after selecting them. What value do artists have in such a system?" asked Karthik. Anju wrote on Facebook: "As an artist, I believe art is above caste and religion. I don't want to give an undertaking that I'm a Hindu to perform at a venue."

RAGING SUMMER

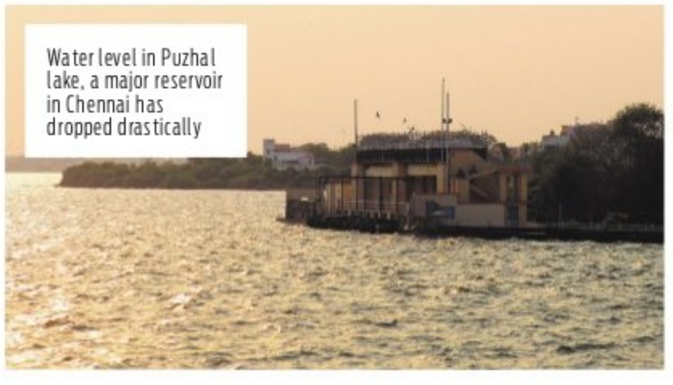
Water level dips in TN reservoirs

S GURUVANMIKANATHAN @ Chennai

AS Tamil Nadu begins to feel the summer heat, water level in 90 reservoirs across the State as on March 31 is 143.529 tmcft (thousand million cubic feet) against overall storage capacity of 224.297 tmcft.

According to Water Resources Department's data accessed by TNIE, while water level in 22 dams has dropped to less than 20 per cent of their capacity, six reservoirs have gone dry.

Among the reservoirs that serve Chennai, Thervoy Kandigai is 100 per cent full and water levels in Red Hills, Chembarambakkam, Poondi and Cholavaram lakes are at 88.85 per cent, 77.61 per cent, 61.84 per cent and 55.41 per cent capacity, respectively.



Water level in Puzhal lake, a major reservoir in Chennai has dropped drastically

According to a senior official, though there has been a marginal dip in water level, there is sufficient water in major dams including Mettur (76.73%), Kariakoil in Salem (90.61%), Thunak Kadavu and Peruvari Pallam in Palaghat (99.89%) and Gunderipallam in Erode (98.42%). In 25 of 31 dams in Madurai, water level has gone below 50 %.

"In January, 90 reservoirs collectively had 202 tmcft of water. In two months, the State has lost nearly 58tmcft of water. As the summer peaks, water loss due to evaporation will also go up," he said.

Another official said though the State recorded good monsoon, lack of storage facilities forced authorities to release surplus water into rivers and sea.

While Chennai's annual water requirement is 20tmcft, the total capacity of five city reservoirs is only 13.213tmcft.

"We have planned to increase the storage capacity of Poondi reservoir from 3.2tmcft to 5.2 tmcft and construct more check dams on non-ayacut land," the official said.

WORK TOWARDS FISCAL HEADROOM WITHOUT THE TIMING MARKET

There are no surprises in the government's FY23 borrowing calendar, which plans to raise about 60% of the total debt within the next six months. Rather, it dashed hopes—however feeble—of lower borrowing considering the higher-than-expected tax revenue in FY22, despite disinvestment proceeds proving to be a sting in the tail. In other words, the new financial year has begun with better cash balances and the fiscal deficit will likely print lower than 6.9% of GDP. But the gains made last year could stand negated possibly due to a higher outgo on account of the PMGKY scheme, or higher fertiliser subsidies, lower divestments and others. Complicating matters, the current account deficit (CAD) may remain tricky should oil sustain above $100 per barrel throughout the fiscal. As it is, with import growth exceeding export growth in the past few months, the CAD-to-GDP ratio has likely crossed 1.7-1.8% in FY22—higher than the pre-pandemic seven-year average of 1.1%.

On its part, excise duties were budgeted lower in FY23 than FY22, which means the government has already absorbed the increase from $70 per barrel to $80. As for the remaining $20 per barrel, the burden is being passed on to households and firms with steady duty hikes. This will have implications on growth and inflation, and delay the RBI's plan of shifting monetary policy's role from being a substitute to complementing fiscal policy. The dilemma for the central bank has been sticky inflation, but that's now being accentuated by a discernible slack in the labour market, consistent with weak GDP growth. Meanwhile, fiscal policy is in a bind, notwithstanding improved cash balances in FY22. According to economists at JP Morgan, even though the February Budget has created buffers to guard against shocks by making conservative tax assumptions for FY23, it'll have to confront several tradeoffs. So, as soon as markets begin to stabilise, authorities must plough ahead with planned asset sales/divestments to create much-needed fiscal headroom without trying to perfectly time the market.

REORGANISATION OF AP DISTRICTS WELCOME

Andhra Pradesh is set to be reorganised on April 4, soon after the Telugu New Year, with the number of districts going up from 13 to 26. This will be the culmination of a marathon exercise and in line with the poll promise made by Chief Minister Y S Jagan Mohan Reddy. With a population of over five crores, AP has the second highest average district population of 41 lakh. Geographically too, it is the eighth largest in the country, with several districts being vast in size. Clearly, it makes sense to carve out new districts for ease of administration and public convenience.

Neighbouring Telangana created 23 new districts, taking its tally to 33 from 10 in 2014 when the state was formed. Tamil Nadu has 38 districts. In Andhra's case, the initial proposal was to have 25 districts—as many as the number of Parliamentary constituencies. This is easier said than done as Assembly segments could not be disturbed nor local sentiments and aspirations brushed aside. The fact that 16,600 suggestions and objections were received from different quarters shows how complicated this endeavour is. The government is also going ahead with redrawing divisions, taking their number to 73. Among the new districts will be two tribal districts: Manyam, with headquarters in Parvathipuram, and Alluri Sitarama Raju, with headquarters in Paderu. While everyone is in broad agreement with the proposed districts, several intellectuals and activists have raised red flags. For instance, Paderu is far away from the farthest point of the Alluri district. These two districts are being carved out of the Araku Parliamentary constituency, which is spread over four districts. If the purpose is to make the district headquarters accessible, cases like these defeat it. There are also fears that Adivasis' rights could be trampled upon and the Panchayats (Extension to Scheduled Areas) Act, 1996 (PESA) violated. Given the number of objections, we need not be surprised if the number of districts goes beyond 30 in the future.

The intention of the government is honourable but alongside the decentralisation of administration, it must also focus on ensuring transparency in public services and strengthening local bodies. In the absence of such an effort, it will be business as usual barring some savings in travel expenses.

There is an urgent requirement for a fast mass transit alternative for long-distance road travel. Thus, it is important to have at least a semi high-speed greenfield railway line

THE TIME TO PUT SILVERLINE PROJECT IN ACTION IS NOW

T M THOMAS ISAAC

Former Finance Minister of Kerala

SOUMYADIP SINHA

The high-speed North-South transport corridor that has been under consideration of successive governments in Kerala during the last two decades has today become a major controversy in Kerala. Express highway, high-speed rail corridor, suburban train and elevated highway have all been discussed at different levels and reports prepared. Finally, the choice has been made for a semi high-speed greenfield North-South arterial railway styled as SilverLine to be implemented by a joint venture between Indian railways and Kerala Rail Development Corporation Limited (K-Rail).

After receiving the in-principle approval of the railways, steps have been initiated to study the social and environmental impact in detail. At this juncture, both the BJP and Congress, who in their 2014 Parliament election manifesto promised a network of high-speed trains in India, have come out in opposition to the project. They have taken to uprooting the markers for alignment demarcation at the ground level in protest.

A section of scholars in the state have also joined the critics. A common question that the latter raise is how the SilverLine, with its huge investment burden, becomes a priority for the state government. There is clearly a lack of appreciation of the effort being made to overcome the infrastructure deficit in the state and transform it from the present low productivity regime to a knowledge and skill intensive technology economy.

Kerala is celebrated for its successful redistributive strategy and far superior outcomes in the quality of life of its citizens when compared to the national average. Democratic decentralisation has been adopted to sustain the quality of public services and improve the productivity of livelihood sectors. But it is not a solution for the infrastructure deficit of the state created by public underinvestment in the past.

Given the commitment to improve the welfare and social security of ordinary people, the budgetary resources would be inadequate for the investment. There are two choices: one, wait for the fiscal consolidation through improvement in the state's own revenues before addressing the infrastructure challenge, or two, initiate steps for fiscal consolidation but at the same time mobilise resources outside the budget through innovative methods and launch the infrastructure drive. The second option has been chosen. The advantage is that such a strategy would provide a regional stimulus in the present recessionary conditions and the new infrastructure would enable the state to attract much needed investment into the knowledge-skill-service based sectors.

There are many naive questions raised on whether the large outlay on SilverLine could be better used for more urgent social priorities. The answer is no, for the simple reason that it is a project-tied loan approved by the Government of India and therefore cannot be used for any other purpose.

The question would still arise about how a semi high-speed rail is a priority in the transport sector. Kerala today is nearly a mono-road transport system and it is an urgent requirement to have a fast mass transit alternative that can wean away long-distance car passengers from the road. Modernisation of the existing broad-gauge rail with additional lines and automatic signalling systems cannot ensure greater speed, even for Vande Bharath trains, for the simple reason that nearly 40% of the tracks are curved. This is more so in urban areas, making straightening of the track prohibitively costly and socially unacceptable. Therefore, from the perspective of balanced transport structure, it is important to have at least a semi high-speed greenfield railway line.

> The new line runs parallel to existing tracks for half the distance and does not cross any highly ecologically fragile areas. If there is any potential damage, it will be revealed by the appraisal and mitigation measures will be taken

An important reason for advocating the SilverLine project is from the environmental perspective. The carbon footprint of a high-speed rail is much lower than that of air and road transport. Our calculation of the carbon equivalent emission of the construction of SilverLine, including that of the tracks and rolling stock and running operations, is only 15.7 gram per passenger kilometre while that of a four-lane road is 151.6 grams. The carbon impact of SilverLine is only one-tenth of roadways and it would be around one-fortieth of airlines.

The new line runs parallel to the existing rail track for half the distance and does not cross any highly ecologically fragile areas. If at all there is any such potential local damage, it will be revealed by the detailed environment appraisal and mitigation measures will be taken. As for the stone, sand and soil required for the project, around 51,000 km of new railway track is being laid in India and so the 530 km-long SilverLine would constitute only a small share of the total national requirement.

Undoubtedly, around 9,000 families and establishments whose land would be acquired for the project would have genuine grievances that would have to be studied in detail so that steps are taken for alleviation, compensation and rehabilitation. Kerala's national highways are being expanded to 6/4 lanes and the number of affected would be at least three times higher than those by SilverLine. There is absolutely no protest anywhere because of a very attractive compensation and rehabilitation package, fully in compliance with the 2013 Act. Same is the experience of several other major projects that are currently being implemented. The present protests are orchestrated by the project opponents and will be overcome by patiently explaining the policy and the package.

There has been criticism regarding technical and financial aspects of the DPR. Such criticism will be carefully considered not only by the Kerala government but also by the Indian railways, which is the sole authority to give the final approval of the project. It is not for the state government to choose the gauge or the signal system. All the high-speed rail under consideration of the Central government is on standard gauge and Kerala alone cannot opt for broad-gauge.

The critics point to the normal time overruns in the implementation of large projects in the state and therefore, it is inadvisable for the state government to indulge in such huge projects. Well, there is a time for change for everything. And that is what is happening in Kerala.

IMPORTANCE OF MAINTAINING SURFACE WATER BODIES

T M MUKUNDAN

Yoga instructor & Ayurveda scholar, founding trustee of Centre for Policy Studies

Water has become a scarce resource, both in urban and rural India. Therefore, rainwater harvesting has become an urgent necessity. In rural areas, rainwater harvesting is done through surface storage bodies. The most important of such storage bodies are the traditional systems of surface water storage, called eris in Tamil, kere in Kannada, cheruvu in Telugu and a variety of other names elsewhere in the country. These eris have played a very important role in providing water for agriculture in rural societies in regions with relatively low rainfall. Unfortunately, these systems, which have served our society for centuries if not millennia and are functional even today, are in a neglected state.

Time and again, the importance of surface water bodies has been recognised. In practice, policies have favoured the development of groundwater in the form of wells and borewells. Compared to groundwater, surface water is a renewable resource. And surface water bodies play a very important role in the recharge of ground water. Hence, even if groundwater is to be used on a sustainable basis, the maintenance of surface water bodies becomes very important.

Traditionally, eris have played a very important role in irrigation and the local ecosystem in areas with relatively low rainfall, such as large parts of Karnataka, Andhra and Tamil Nadu. These eris are located mostly in parts of India that receive an annual rainfall of 1,000 mm or less. Over the last 50 years or more, the contribution of eris in the area irrigated in our country has declined steadily. This points to a policy of neglect of these community-owned and managed structures in favour of individually owned wells.

Not only are eris marvellous examples of indigenous engineering skills and ingenuity, they also illustrate an understanding of nature and a sound and ecologically sustainable intervention in nature. An understanding of this technology and its relevance for today will go a long way in providing ecologically sustainable alternatives to the current mode of modernisation and development.

What is an eri?

An eri is a reservoir of water contained behind earthen bunds or embankments. Usually, the bund surrounds the water on three sides. The fourth side is open to the catchment from which the water flows down to collect in the eri. Normally, the middle of the bund is the deepest portion of the eri and the depth decreases as we go to the sides or flanks of the bund.

One of the main functions of an eri is irrigation of fields for agriculture and each eri is designed to irrigate a certain extent of agricultural land known as the ayacut of the eri. The water reaches the fields with the help of gravity, across (below) the bund through openings or valves called sluices (madhagu in Tamil). Normally, there are fairly elaborate arrangements for opening and closing of the sluices, which can be operated from the top of the bund. An eri has, depending on its size, a number of sluices. They are located at different levels so as to be able to supply water to fields at different elevations.

> Traditionally, eris have played a very important role in irrigation and the local ecosystem in areas with relatively low rainfall, such as large parts of Karnataka, Andhra and Tamil Nadu. ... Data from different parts of Tamil Nadu for the late 18th and early 19th centuries reveal that under eris, the productivity of paddy was considerably high and in fact higher than the yields in the 1960s

In India, agriculture depends upon and closely follows the monsoons (Southwest and Northeast), which are regular occurrences. Water conservation and irrigation technologies such as eris, took on the supplementary role of adding to the sufficiency, certainty and predictability of water availability for agriculture. Where rainfall was relatively low, every effort was made to retain all the water that fell on the ground through appropriate water retention and conservation strategies. Since eris are local resources, the estimates of water available in them are constantly made by the village communities, which are used to make sure that the most efficient use of available water is made.

Traditionally, eris have played several roles:

1) As appropriate irrigation devices in the cultivation of paddy. Paddy is a highly location-specific crop, which is the reason why there were perhaps a couple of lakhs of paddy varieties all over India. Data from different parts of Tamil Nadu for the late 18th and early 19th centuries reveal that under eris, the productivity of paddy was considerably high and in fact higher than the yields in the 1960s. It is indeed important to understand how this was possible.

2) As a system that acted as a flood control device, thus preventing soil erosion and wastage of runoff water during periods of heavy rainfall.

3) As storage devices that acted as insurance against low rainfall periods and also recharged groundwater in the surrounding area.

4) As a device that was crucial to the overall ecosystem.

The Indian civilisation seems to have placed a great value on the decentralisation of resources and political power, which automatically set a limit to the size of irrigation structures. Large-scale systems such as modern dams would not have been compatible with the values and goals of Indian civilisation. The traditional irrigation technology of eris were also the ecologically optimal solutions for the natural conditions occurring in some parts of India.

Stop trade with Russia

While the brutal attack on Ukraine continues unabated, it is the responsibility of nations like India, from whom the saner world expects much, to have Russia stop the madness. India, which earned the consternation of the West by abstaining from the UNSC vote, must at least stop trading with Russia, reiterating her commitment to territorial integrity and human lives.

Dr George Jacob, Kochi

Take independent stand

The US deputy national security advisor Daleep Singh's warning that it is foolish to expect Russia to come to India's defence in case of Chinese aggression cannot be taken lightly as it had been proved during 1962. But the US is a more unreliable ally; hence, India must take an independent stand.

Dharmarajan A K, Thalassery

Don't be cowed down

Daleep Singh's warning to India about 'consequences' for ducking sanctions on Russia is another attempt to lord over us. Singh played a crucial role in designing American sanctions against Russia in his role as deputy NSA, but his comments portray him in poor light. India must not be cowed down by such threats and continue buying cheaper fuel from Russia if it is to benefit the country.

N J Ravi Chander, Bengaluru

SC averts social chaos

The Supreme Court put an end to the quota quixotism by upholding the Madras High Court's verdict to do away with the 10.5% internal reservation for a particular caste. When one caste is given preferential privileges over the other backward castes, it smacks of majoritarianism by a dominant group without any legal, constitutional, moral or ethical justification. This kind of reservation would lead to vote bank politics as well as social chaos, which was rightly averted by the apex court.

Venkat Desikan, Chennai

Govt must mend its ways

This is with reference to Trade union cloud over Kerala's growth dreams (Apr 1). As the editorial highlighted, the state government needs to mend its ways to turn its tall claims into reality. So far, despite the government's claims, no perceptible progress is visible. If it is being sincere, the government should take trade union leaders into confidence and apprise them about the necessity of a harmonious industrial atmosphere.

P K Sreevalsan, Kannur

Increase interest rates

It is disappointing for the general public, especially senior citizens, that the government will continue the same interest rates on small savings schemes as the last quarter. Most senior citizens and pensioners eke out their living on just the interest income from their post office time deposits, the rate for which is only 5.5–6.7%. This is very low taking into account the ever-increasing prices of essential commodities. The finance minister should increase the interest rates on all post office small savings schemes so that the public will not feel the pinch of the price hikes.

Bill to add 4 tribes in ST list tabled

They belong to newly created districts in UP; Oppn alleges quota policy being politicised

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Lok Sabha on Friday passed a bill to include certain communities in four newly created districts of Uttar Pradesh in the Scheduled Tribes list.

The bill, which was approved by voice vote by the Lower House, amends the Scheduled Tribes Order to recognise Gond community in Chandauli, Kushinagar, Sant Kabir Nagar and Sant Ravidas Nagar.

Tabling the Constitution (Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes) Orders (Second Amendment) Bill, 2022, Tribal Affairs Minister Arjun Munda said the Narendra Modi government is committed to the welfare of tribals and has been increasing the budget allocations for the welfare of tribals.

"The Modi government is committed to the welfare of tribals and this bill is just a way forward," Munda said, adding that the government was coming up with different bills for reservation as the list of such tribes is different in different states and the issues ought to be deliberated in Parliament.

The government is coming up with different bills for reservation of tribals as the list of such tribes is different in different states and the issues ought to be deliberated — Arjun Munda, Tribal Affairs Minister

Rejecting the Opposition charge of politicising the issue, the minister said that bill provides for welfare of tribals in Uttar Pradesh where the elections have already been completed. "This is not linked with elections," he added.

Participating in the debate, Congress leader Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury said the government should come up with a comprehensive bill for reservation of SCs instead of working in a piecemeal manner. Similar issue was raised by N K Premachandran (RSP).

BJP MP from Madhya Pradesh Guman Singh Damor said some tribals who are very poor and uneducated are being converted by offering inducements. These people are getting converted for inducements and due to this our tribal culture is being "destroyed", he said.

Speaking before Damor, Congress MP from Odisha Saptagiri Sankar Ulaka said his party supports the bill and welcomes the necessary steps by the government. "Now they talk of conversion, the Hindu marriage act is not applicable to tribals. A tribal who converts to Christianity is being attacked... they want to do away with reservation, have given away land to industrialists," he said. With agency inputs

BJP's RS tally crosses 100-mark

NEW DELHI: The BJP is expected to have a smooth ride in the Rajya Sabha for passage of future legislations with the ruling party now having 101 members in the Upper House, the highest tally for a party after 1988. "No party has been there after 1988," said Amit Malviya, national convenor of the BJP's IT cell, referring to the 1988-90 period when the Congress had 108 MPs. "BJP and its allies win both the Rajya Sabha seats from Assam. The other two seats from North East, namely Tripura and Nagaland, also won by the BJP. This makes it 4/4. Congress draws a neat blank," Malviya tweeted. The BJP's has a tally of 101 in the 245-member House while the NDA now has 117 members. ENS

Legislation on Antarctic attracts Oppn flak, govt cites treaty obligations

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Union government on Friday introduced a bill in the Lok Sabha seeking to extend the application of domestic laws to research stations set up by India in the Antarctic region. The Opposition objected to the bill claiming that the government "wants to take bureaucracy to Antarctica as well".

The Indian Antarctic Bill, 2022, notes the increased tourism to Antarctica and the growing presence of Indian scientists in the continent, and states that this requires a domestic legislation on Antarctica consistent with its obligations as a member of the Antarctic Treaty. The bill seeks to prohibit Indian expedition to Antarctica or carrying out certain activities there without a permit or authorisation of another Party to the Protocol on Environmental Protection to the Antarctic Treaty.

Trinamool MP Saugata Roy said: "The government now wants to take bureaucracy to Antarctica as well and how India can make a law for a territory it does not own." Congress leader Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury demanded that the bill be referred to a Select Committee.

Union Minister of Earth Sciences Jitendra Singh said international treaties require domestic laws to be extended to the research stations of respective countries to check unlawful activities. "In the Antarctic Treaty, it was made mandatory for signatories that 'whichever area is occupied by your set up, you enforce your country's law'," he said.

Celebrate exams as festivals, Modi advises students

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

ADDRESSING thousands of school children at the fifth edition of the 'Pariksha Pe Charcha (PPC)', Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday advised them to stay away from the "environment of panic" and to "celebrate exams as a festival".

He also asked parents and teachers not to burden the children with their expectations. "April is a month full of festivals, but between celebrating these festivals, we have to focus on exams. So why shouldn't we celebrate exams as festivals? If the exams are made a festival, then many colours are filled in it," the prime minister said as he addressed students' queries on exam stress.

"I want students to stay away from the environment of panic during exams," he said and asked them to keep working with full confidence and to connect with their inner selves.

Addressing parents and teachers, he said they should not try to pass their dreams, which they could not fulfill, onto their children.

To a question from a Class 12 student that after taking the board exams, they will have to prepare for the Common University Entrance Test (CUET) to get admission to central universities, Modi said, "We should consider competition as the biggest gift of life. Competition is an important medium to advance life, through which we can also evaluate ourselves. Competitions make life progressive."

To a question on the National Education Policy, the PM said the policy has been designed with a modern framework to enhance the learning experience of a student.

Reconsider Sabarmati revamp plea, SC tells HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday remanded back to Gujarat High Court a plea by Tushar Gandhi, great grandson of Mahatma Gandhi, challenging the Gujarat government's plan to redevelop the Sabarmati Ashram in Ahmedabad.

The top court said that it is not going into the merits of the case. "We are of the considered view that it would be appropriate for the high court to decide upon the issues which are raised in the petition after furnishing to the state of Gujarat an opportunity of filing a comprehensive affidavit dealing with various facets of the matter," the bench said.

"The high court having disposed of the matter summarily without calling for a report from the state of Gujarat, we are of the view prima facie that the matter be required to be restored to the high court... We allow the appeal without going into the merits of the issues," it added.

The court noted that both Senior Advocate Indira Jaising, appearing for Tushar Arun Gandhi, and Solicitor General of India Tushar Mehta, appearing for the Gujarat government, agreed that the matter can be sent back to the high court.

The petitioner had expressed fear that the redevelopment would change the physical structure of Sabarmati Ashram and corrupt its simplicity and frugality which embodied the ideology of Mahatma Gandhi. The petitioner said that with the over-sized involvement of the government authorities in the conception and execution of the project, the ashram might lose the Gandhian ethos.

NEET-PG: Govt cancels mop-up round counselling

NEW DELHI: Complying with the Supreme Court order, the Central government on Friday cancelled the All-India Quota (AIQ) mop-up round of NEET PG counselling. "The earlier allotments/admission done in the mop-up round of PG counselling which were made during the period of March 21 and March 31, 2022, will be deemed to be cancelled," said the MCC notice. ENS

Maha govt's plea on Deshmukh case binned

NEW DELHI: The Supreme Court Friday rejected a plea by the Maharashtra government challenging an order of the Bombay High Court which dismissed its petitions for forming an SIT to probe the corruption case against former home minister Anil Deshmukh.

"It is complete red herring. I thought the state will see some sense. But, these are different nature of battles. Sorry, dismissed," the bench said.

At the outset, senior advocate C A Sundaram, appearing for the Maharashtra government, submitted that the current CBI director was the former DGP of Maharashtra and part of the Police Establishment Board which oversaw the transfer and postings. He said how can the CBI probe its own conduct.

"The present director of CBI at relevant time was the Chairman of the establishment board responsible for transfer. He will either be possibly an accused or definitely a witness. I am not going into likelihood of bias, a person who is relevant as a witness or an accused, he was directly involved. My only submission is that if this is the situation that has arisen your lordship may constitute a SIT or whoever to investigate the matter. It surely cannot be that a person who is responsible for actions complained about in FIR, be the person to conduct investigation regarding that," Sundaram said.

On March 24, the apex court had transferred to the CBI the investigation in multiple cases against former Mumbai police commissioner Param Bir Singh over allegations of misconduct and corruption. PTI

PM urges for early cessation of violence

THE Ukarine situation figured in his one-on-one with Modi, with the prime minister reiterating his call for an early cessation of violence, and conveying India's readiness to contribute in any way to the peace process.

Articulating India's position on the ongoing war, Dr Jaishankar said, "India has always been in favour of resolving differences and disputes through dialogue and diplomacy." Lavrov appreciated India's stance saying it is taking the situation in its entirety and not just making a one-side assessment.

India is committed to buying 6 billion tonnes of crude from Russia at a discount of $20 per barrel for public sector undertakings like IOCL. Negotiations are for an additional 4 million tonnes by private sector companies.

However, India is being pressured to rethink on expanding trade ties with Russia, beyond importing oil. Just a day earlier, US Deputy National Security Adviser for International Economics, Daleep Singh had said, "Washington would not set any red line for India on its energy imports from Russia but did not want to see a rapid acceleration in purchases."

ALL PROBE AGENCIES SHOULD BE UNDER ONE UMBRELLA: CJI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

STATING that police and investigative agencies should uphold and strengthen democratic values, CJI NV Ramana on Friday emphasised the need to create an independent umbrella body to bring various investigative agencies like the CBI, ED and others under one roof. "This kind of body is required to be created under a statue, clearly defining its power, functions and jurisdictions," the CJI said. He also said an independent authority should be appointed by a committee akin to the one which appoints the CBI director.

Delivering the 19th DP Kohli Memorial Lecture on the CBI's foundation day, the Chief Justice of India said the investigative agencies need to function within democratic framework as prescribed under the Constitution. "Any deviation will hurt the institutions and will weaken our democracy".

Stating that the image of police is tarnished by allegations of corruption, the CJI said often police officers approach the courts claiming that they are being harassed with change in power. "The political executives will change with time. You are permanent," the CJI said.

Emphasising that democracy is best suited for a diverse country like India, the CJI said the country's rich diversity cannot be sustained through dictatorial governance. "Given our experience with democracy so far, it is proven beyond doubt that democracy is best suited for a pluralistic society like ours. It is only through democracy that our rich culture, heritage, diversity, and pluralism can be sustained and strengthened," he said.

There is an immediate requirement for the creation of an independent umbrella institution, so as to bring various agencies like the CBI, SFIO, ED, etc., under one roof — NV Ramana, CJI

43K km state roads converted to NHs in last 8 yrs

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

IN the last eight years, over 43,000 km state roads, including state highways (SHs), have been accorded the status of national highways (NHs) across the country. According to the road transport and highways ministry, during the last financial year (2021-22), a total 2,975.4 km roads were upgraded to NHs while in 2020-21, 5,381 km roads were made NHs.

In 2019-20, only 495km roads, under the jurisdiction of the state governments, were converted to NHs. This is an all-time low figure since April 2014. In 2016-17, a total 13,075 km were upgraded which is a record so far. In 2018-19, the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) notified 6,174 km of roads in states or UTs as NHs.

At present, total length of NHs (including expressways) in the country is 1,32,499 km but they constitute only about 1.7% of the entire network.

Based on requirements and proposals from the state governments, state highways are declared as new NHs by the ministry. This aims to strengthen the infrastructure and to expedite growth of the areas connected with those roads.

Rapid expansion of passenger and freight traffic also necessitates upgrade of roads.

"The ministry keeps on receiving proposals from various state governments or UTs for declaration or upgrade of state roads, including SHs as new National Highways (NHs). The ministry considers declaration of some state roads, including SHs, as NHs from time to time based on the requirement of connectivity, inter-se priority and availability of funds," said Union minister Nitin Gadkari.

House resolution for transfer of Chandigarh to Punjab

Motion adopted unanimously by Punjab Assembly says the Centre is trying to upset the balance in administration of common assets

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE Punjab Assembly, in a special one-day session, unanimously passed a resolution seeking immediate transfer of Chandigarh to the state. The resolution was passed on a day Central services rules became applicable to employees of Chandigarh administration instead of Punjab services rules.

Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann moved the resolution in the House and MLAs of all political parties – AAP, Congress, SAD and even the lone BSP legislator – supported it and dubbed the Centre's move on service rules as "dictatorial and autocratic". The two BJP MLAs, however, opposed the resolution and accused the government of misleading the people before they staged a walkout.

The resolution stated, "Punjab was reorganised through the Punjab Reorganisation Act, 1966 wherein, the state of Punjab was reorganised into the state of Haryana, Union Territory of Chandigarh and some parts of Punjab were given to the then Union Territory of Himachal Pradesh."

A balance had always been maintained in the administration of common assets like Bhakra Beas Management Board (BBMB) by way of giving management positions in some proportion to nominees of states of Punjab and Haryana. But the Centre, through some of its recent actions, had been trying to upset this balance, the resolution stated.

The Centre has opened the posts of BBMB members to officers of all states and central government, whereas these were traditionally filled up by officers from Punjab and Haryana. Similarly, Chandigarh administration has always been managed by officers of Punjab and Haryana in the ratio of 60:40. However, recently the Union government posted officers from outside in Chandigarh. And now, it has introduced Central civil service rules for employees of Chandigarh administration, the resolution stated.

'Will remain joint capital'

New Delhi: Haryana Chief Minister Manohar Lal Khattar said Chandigarh is and will remain the joint capital of both states. "Both states have several issues to discuss other than Chandigarh," he told reporters in Gurugram. Khattar asserted that the Centre has taken the decision to implement Central service rules as it will greatly benefit the employees and alleged that the Punjab government was misleading the public on this issue.

Anti-Romeo squads to be revived by Yogi govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Lucknow

UTTAR Pradesh government, led by Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath, is all set to re-activate anti-Romeo squads across the state from Saturday.

An order in this regard was released by the state home department on Friday, wherein, the state police department was directed to commence the special drive from day one of 'chaitra navratri' beginning on Saturday to ensure women security and safety of the girls.

As per the order, released after a high-level meeting of CM with senior officers of home and police department, the authorities concerned were asked to depute cops associated with anti-Romeo squads around girls' colleges and schools to curb eve-teasing.

The anti-Romeo squads were set up to protect the girls from eve teasers. Significantly, the BJP scored over its political rivals in the recently concluded assembly elections over the improvement in law and order under Yogi government as it received wider appreciation, especially, from the women voters. Sharing the details of the order released on Friday, Additional Chief Secretary (ACS) Navneet Sehgal said the CM asked the senior police officials to set up police teams for patrolling in crowded locations during the evenings.

NCP SOFT ON BJP?

Uddhav denies reports of rift with minister on handling of home dept

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AMID the crackdown by central probe agencies against Maha Vikas Aghadi leaders, the Shiv Sena is said to be miffed with ally NCP's handling of the home ministry, especially the soft treatment of BJP leaders. Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray, however, denied that he was upset with Home Minister Dilip Walse-Patil, who belongs to the NCP.

The CM's Office released a statement quoting Thackeray as saying that he had full trust and faith in his cabinet colleagues and that Walse-Patil was doing a good job. The clarification came after the minister met the CM at his bungalow on Friday noon.

Thackeray later met the home minister again along with Shiv Sena leader Sanjay Raut in an attempt to address the growing unrest among his party leaders, who feel that the home department should have been kept with the Sena.

The Shiv Sena chief was said to be unhappy with Walse-Pail's reply in the Assembly to former chief minister Devendra Fadnavis' allegation that the MVA government was conspiring to frame up BJP leaders in false cases. The NCP minister had announced a probe by the CID into the matter.

Raut, too, had made his displeasure with the home department public saying the action taken by Central agencies like the ED against Maharashtra leaders was an attack on the state home department. After the meeting, however, he said, usually the CM holds the home portfolio but MVA was a three-party government and there were limitations. Hence, the Sena could not keep all important portfolios with it.

Earlier, Shiv Sena leader Chandrakant Khaire had also demanded that the home department should be with the party. "During the recent Maharashtra assembly session, Leader of Opposition Devendra Fadnavis brought a pen drive and 'exposed' the government, but home minister Dilip Walse-Patil gave a meek response. There are many cases registered against BJP leaders, but the home department has developed cold feet," said a senior Shiv Sena leader.

Himanta pleads N-E militants for peace

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

HOURS after the withdrawal of "draconian" Armed Forces (Special Powers) Act (AFSPA) from parts of the Northeast, Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma on Friday appealed to militant groups still wielding the gun to join the peace process.

The chief minister's message was directed, particularly at the Paresh Baruah faction of United Liberation Front of Assam or ULFA. "I appeal to all groups, including ULFA, waging an armed struggle to join the peace process so we can build a strong Assam and leave a peaceful, progressive and developed state for the new generation," Himanta told the media on the day. He was hopeful the partial withdrawal of AFSPA would further ensure the development of Northeast.

The ULFA is a major extremist group outside the purview of peace process and the Assam government under Himanta Biswa Sarma is trying its best to bring seperatist groups to the table for talks.

Meanwhile, the demand for AFSPA's withdrawal from the Northeast had gathered momentum after the killings of civilians in a botched ambush by an elite unit of the Army in Mon on December 4. However, the controversial Act, which gives sweeping powers to the armed forces, has not been withdrawn from this eastern Nagaland district.

In a notification released on Thursday, the Union Ministry of Home Affairs said, "'Disturbed areas notification' vis-a-vis AFSPA was being removed from 23 districts and partially from one district of Assam, 15 police station areas of six districts of Manipur and 15 police stations in seven districts of Nagaland with effect from April 1."

In Nagaland, AFSPA was fully removed from Tuensang, Shamator and Tseminyu districts and partially removed from Kohima, Wokha, Longleng and Mokokchung districts.

A senior Nagaland government official said a section of people in Mon was not happy that the Centre ignored the demand of the locals.

"There is no protest as such but the central government must have taken the decision after studying the ground situation. Some elements still use the soil of Mon for transit to Myanmar," the official said.

Nixing SC/ST promotion will create unrest: Centre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

QUASHING of reservation in promotion to SC/ST employees in government jobs may lead to unrest and a litany of litigations, the Centre told the Supreme Court on Friday. Explaining its position on the issue in an affidavit filed before a bench of judges L Nageswara Rao and B R Gavai, the Centre added that representation of SCs/STs in government jobs is inadequate and that the reservation in promotion does not in any manner hamper the administration.

Defending its stand, the Centre said the policy for reservation is in consonance with the constitution and the law laid down by the top court. The government's affidavit noted that efforts were on to collect quantifiable data on SCs and STs to ascertain their inadequacy of representations in Central government posts.

The Centre also cautioned that if the reservation is set aside, it would necessitate withdrawal of the benefits of reservation in promotion granted to SC/ST employees. This may lead to re-fixation of their salaries and pensions, recovery of excess salaries/pension paid etc, the government added.

SPECULATION over Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar's exit from state politics and instead going to Rajya Sabha was put to rest after his ministerial colleague Sanjay Kumar Jha described it as 'rumour' on Friday. Jha, considered close to Nitish, tweeted saying that he was intrigued at the rumour that CM was contemplating to go to Rajya Sabha. "This is mischievous and far from truth," he said.

Jha, the state water resources minister, clarified that Nitish had people's mandate to serve the state and will continue to do so for the full term as chief minister. "He is not going anywhere," the minister said. He, however, did not blame anybody for propaganda being spread about Nitish.

Toeing similar lines, Janata Dal (United) parliamentary board chairman Upendra Kushwaha said that the CM will continue to serve the state for five years. "He will continue to serve in the same capacity and is not going anywhere," Kushwaha tweeted.

On March 28, Nitish during an informal chat with some media persons had expressed his willingness to serve as a member of the Rajya Sabha someday as he had already served in the Lok Sabha, legislative assembly and council.

UP woman raises 'red saree flag', prevents rail mishap

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

MANY lives were saved by the virtue of a village woman in Etah district who fluttered her red-coloured saree to avert a major rail accident due to broken tracks near Kusba railway station, 20 km from district headquarters, on Thursday.

While going to the fields, Omvati, 65, of Guleria village in Avagarh block of Etah district, spotted a big crack in the railway track. She thought of alerting the drivers of the coming trains. Finding nothing worthwhile to raise the flag, she undraped part of her red saree and started fluttering it.

Later, she hung the saree on the track signalling danger with the help of a stick taken from a nearby tree.

Soon a passenger train from Etah to Tundla came chugging in but the driver spotted the red coloured sari and applied the brakes in time. On finding the tracks damaged, the driver of the passenger train informed his seniors who reached the spot and got the tracks repaired. The train could continue the journey after an hour.

The driver of the train appreciated the effort of Omvati and gave her Rs 100 as a token of her presence of mind and courage. Omvati said she removed part of her saree and set it on the tracks thinking that it might alert the driver about the risk as the red color is the sign of danger. She also said that the driver offered her a reward of Rs 100, however she ended up declining the offer.

Meanwhile, a UP cop named Sachin Kaushik also shared the entire episode on social media saluting to the spirit of the village woman. He tweeted, "Omvati spotted the broken tracks while going to work in her field in the morning. When the train was about to arrive, she spread her red saree on the track with the help of wood across the track as the signal of danger."

Sri Lanka declares state of emergency after unrest

COLOMBO

A police officer walks past a cordoned-off site next to the vehicles that were burnt near Sri Lanka President Gotabaya Rajapaksa's home in Colombo on Friday | AFP

SRI LANKA'S president declared a state of emergency on Friday giving sweeping powers to security forces a day after hundreds tried to storm his house in anger over an unprecedented economic crisis.

President Gotabaya Rajapaksa invoked the tough laws allowing the military to arrest and detain suspects for long periods without trial as demonstrations calling for his ouster spread across the nation.

The emergency was declared for "protection of public order and the maintenance of supplies and services essential to the life of the community," he said in a proclamation.

The nation of 22 million is facing severe shortages of essentials, sharp price rises and crippling power cuts in its most painful downturn since independence from Britain in 1948.

Police reimposed a nighttime curfew on Friday in the Western Province, which includes the capital Colombo, expanding the no-go zone from the previous night.

Earlier in the evening, dozens of rights activists carried handwritten placards and oil lamps in the capital while demonstrating at a busy intersection. "Time to quit Rajapaksas," said one placard. "No more corruption, go home Gota," said another — referring to the president.

In the highland town of Nuwara Eliya, activists blocked the opening of a flower exhibition by Prime Minister Mahinda Rajapaksa's wife, Shiranthi, police said. The southern towns of Galle, Matara and Moratuwa also saw anti-government protests.

Thursday night's unrest outside the president's private home saw hundreds of people demand he step down. People chanted "lunatic, lunatic, go home", before police fired tear gas and used water cannon.

The crowd turned violent, setting ablaze two military buses, a police jeep, two patrol motorcycles and a three-wheeler. They also threw bricks at officers.

At least two protesters were wounded. Police said 53 protesters were arrested, but local media organisations said five news photographers were also detained and tortured at a local police station, a charge the government said it will investigate. AFP

AMID TALKS, MOSCOW ACCUSES KYIV OF AIRSTRIKE IN RUSSIA

KYIV

Firefighters trying to douse the flames at an oil depot in Russian border region of Belgorod on Friday following an airstrike | AP/PTI

MOSCOW on Friday accused Kyiv of carrying out an airstrike on Russian soil, in a new blow to hopes of any deescalation in President Vladimir Putin's war against Ukraine. However, Kyiv has denied any involvement in the incident.

Peace talks between Ukrainian and Russian officials resumed via video on Friday, but Moscow warned that the helicopter attack on a fuel depot in the town of Belgorod would hamper negotiations.

Regional Governor Vyacheslav Gladkov said two Ukrainian helicopter gunships had flown at low altitude and struck the facility in the city of Belgorod north of the border, triggering the blast and fire.

Two workers at the depot were injured, he said. But Russian media cited a statement from state oil company Rosneft that denied anyone was hurt.

"Certainly, this is not something that can be perceived as creating comfortable conditions for the continuation of the talks," Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov said.

More than 300 firefighters battled the blaze, using a helicopter and a special firefighting train, the Belgorod mayor's office said. Gladkov said he met with residents who were moved from their homes to a nearby sports facility. It would not be the first attack reported inside Russia since the war began February 24.

Oleksiy Danilov, secretary of Ukraine's national security council, denied that Ukraine was responsible. "For some reason, they say that we did it, but in fact this does not correspond with reality," he said on Ukrainian television.

Earlier, presidential adviser Oleksiy Arestovich said: "We are carrying out defensive operations on our territory. Russian authorities bear responsibility for everything that happens at Russian territory."

Russian authorities "must figure out what's going on in Belgorod," he said. "Maybe someone smoked in the wrong place. Maybe there was something else. Maybe Russian troops are sabotaging orders and don't want to enter Ukrainian territory by available means."

Meanwhile, Russian troops were withdrawing from areas around Kyiv, three days after Moscow said it would reduce military activity near the Ukrainian capital and the northern city of Chernihiv to promote trust between the two sides and help the negotiations. But Ukraine and its allies have warned that the Kremlin is not de-escalating but regrouping, resupplying its troops and redeploying them to the country's east for an intensified assault on the predominantly Russian-speaking Donbas region, which includes Mariupol.

Another attempt to rescue civilians from the shattered and encircled city of Mariupol was thrown into jeopardy.

The International Committee for the Red Cross struggled to work out an operation to send emergency aid into Mariupol and bring civilians out by bus.

The strategic southern port city on the Sea of Azov has seen some of the worst suffering of the war, with weeks of heavy fighting and shortages of water, food and medicine.

City authorities said the Russians were blocking access to Mariupol and it was too dangerous for people to leave on their own. Agencies

Record GST collection in march at ₹1.42 lakh crore

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

GST collections in March, which typically sees robust mop-up as companies do more sales to meet financial year-end targets, reached an all-time high of ₹1,42,095 crore, which is 15% higher than that of the same month a year ago. The previous highest GST collection was in January this year, at ₹1,40,986 crore.

The total revenue of the Centre and the states in March after regular and ad-hoc settlements of Integrated GST is ₹65,646 crore for Central GST and ₹67,410 crore for the State GST. The Centre also released GST compensation of ₹18,252 crore to states/UTs during the month.

"The record GST collections have also been aided by the strong sales activity of corporates in March, as they race to close the fiscal with high top line growth. This has a direct bearing on GST, which is a transaction tax," said M S Mani, partner, Deloitte India. The upswing in economic indicators and data-mining approach to detect cases of GST evasion also aided higher mop-up, he added.

The big picture

Year	Annual collection	Average monthly mop-up
FY18	7,40,650	61,721
FY19	11,77,369	98,114
FY20	12,22,118	1,01,843
FY21	11,36,803	94,734
FY22	14,83,292	1,23,607

The state-wise growth numbers, however, show an uneven revival in consumption and investment activities. Some large states such as West Bengal, Madhya Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, Telangana, Rajasthan and Uttar Pradesh have shown growth in single digit while Punjab, Haryana, Odisha, Maharashtra and Andhra Pradesh have registered over 15% growth.

"This suggests large interstate variation in consumption and investment growth, and provides more support to state's demand on continuation of GST compensation beyond five years," said Devendra Kumar Pant, chief economist, India Ratings & Research.

The annual GST collection also touched an all-time high of ₹14.83 lakh crore in 2021-22, an increase of 30.5% over the previous year's ₹11.37 lakh crore.

INDONESIA

TO IMPOSE VAT, INCOME TAX ON CRYPTO ASSETS

Indonesia plans to charge value-added tax (VAT) on crypto asset transactions and an income tax on capital gains from such investments at 0.1% each, starting from May 1, a tax official said on Friday, amid a boom in digital asset trading. Interest in digital assets has surged in Southeast Asia's largest economy during the Covid-19 pandemic, with the number of crypto asset holders jumping to 11 million by the end of 2021. Last year's total crypto asset transactions in commodity futures markets reached 859.4 trillion rupiah ($59.8 billion), up more than 10 times from 2020's transaction value, data from the Commodity Futures Trading Regulatory Agency showed.

Indonesians are allowed to trade crypto assets as a commodity but not to use them as a means of payment. "Crypto assets will be subject to VAT because they are a commodity as defined by the trade ministry. They are not a currency," the official, Hestu Yoga Saksama, told a media briefing. "So we will impose income tax and VAT." The VAT rate on crypto assets is well below the 11% levied on most Indonesian goods and services, while the income tax on capital gains, at 0.1% of gross transaction value, matches that on shares.

HONG KONG

TRADING IN OVER 30 LISTED FIRMS HALTS

The Hong Kong stock exchange suspended from trade on Friday the shares of Chinese developers such as Sunac China (1918.HK), Shimao Group (0813.HK) and Kaisa Group (1638.HK), and about 30 other firms for a delay in declaring annual results. Hong Kong-listed firms usually have three months after the end of the financial year to publish results, though regulators in 2020 allowed trade to continue if companies whose audits were affected by pandemic curbs issued preliminary results without agreement with auditors, or published management accounts. "The exchange is committed to maintaining a fair, orderly and continuous market," the exchange operator, Hong Kong Exchanges and Clearing (HKEx), said in a statement. It would monitor developments to ensure suspensions were as short as reasonably possible, it added. Of the 32 firms suspended for missing the March 31 deadline, 14 had audits affected by pandemic curbs, the exchange said. That compared with 57 suspended in the corresponding period last year, when two were related to Covid-19.

SOUTH KOREA

FACTORY GROWTH SLOWS AS OUTPUT SHRINKS - PMI

South Korea's factory activity slowed in March, as the economic fallout from the Ukraine war added strains to firms already struggling with supply chain disruptions and inflationary pressures, a private-sector survey showed on Friday. The Markit purchasing managers' index (PMI) fell to 51.2 in March from 53.8 in February, standing above the 50-mark threshold that indicates expansion in activity. It was the 18th straight month of expansion, although it was the lowest in four months. "South Korean manufacturers reported that sharp price rises and sustained supply chain disruption had hindered production and demand at the end of the first quarter of the year," said Usamah Bhatti, an economist at S&P Global. "Moreover, manufacturing firms noted the impact that economic sanctions on Russia and the war with Ukraine had on international demand, with new export sales falling at the fastest pace since mid-2020." New export orders returned to contraction in three months and posted the sharpest reduction since July 2020, as respondents were reportedly pressured by higher raw material prices and the Russian invasion of Ukraine. Overall new orders barely grew with the sub-index standing at 50.4. Output also shrank in the same month.

SC asks if it can restrain FRL from alienating its assets

RAM SAHGAL @ Mumbai

THE Supreme Court, hearing the Amazon-Future Retail case, asked how it could injunct or restrain FRL from alienating its assets until arbitration proceedings are completed if the stores' landlords were not before it.

"If the tenants or landlords are not before us, how can the court pass an order injuncting them from taking possession," a source present in court cited Justice Kohli as having said. The case is being heard by a three-judge bench led by CJI NV Ramana.

The apex court, however, noted that both Future Retail and Amazon had agreed to re-start the arbitration process, whereby Amazon has opposed the ₹24713 crore Future Group-RIL deal on the ground of it violating certain contracts entered into between Amazon and a Future group promoter company in 2019.

The Emergency Arbitrator in Singapore had passed an order in 2020 in favour of Amazon.

FRL subsequently moved a division bench of the Delhi High Court which stayed the EA's order, following which Amazon moved the SC.

The SC' observation on alienation by FRL pertained to the interim application of Amazon requesting the Court to restrain the retailer from disposing of its assets until the Arbitrator in Singapore passed a final order on the dispute.

The hearing will be continued on April 4.

Court proceedings show that Reliance Retail had taken over the lease of around 800 stores from FRL after the latter failed to meet rental obligations on the same.

There are 374 stores with FRL currently, as per its counsel Harish Salve.

"374 are there unless some landlords throw me out," Salve reportedly told the Court.

Amazon has objected to the lease transfer with a final arbitration order pending before the Singapore International Arbitration Centre.

During the proceedings, a senior advocate for a lender to FRL, prayed that no interim order be granted which goes against the bank's interest.

Banks had in an earlier hearing proposed that Reliance group and Amazon be allowed to bid for FRL with a reserve price of Rs 17000 crore that comprises dues by FRL to the banks.

Maruti sells 4L fewer cars in FY22 than in '19

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

INDIA'S largest carmaker Maruti Suzuki on Friday reported sales of 1,365,370 units (passenger vehicle (PV) plus light commercial vehicle) in the domestic market in financial year 2022, a growth of 3% when compared with FY21 sales.

However, when compared with sales of FY18-19, the peak year for MSIL, domestic sales last fiscal took a hit of about 3.88 lakh units. In FY19, MSIL had sold 1,753,700 units in the Indian market and it was only in FY2016, barring the Covid-19-hit FY21, that the carmaker had reported domestic sales lower than 14 lakh units.

This sharp fall in sales for the carmaker comes at a time when its market share has taken a hit amid growing preference for SUVs, a segment where Maruti Suzuki is not the strongest player. Till last month, MSIL had lost 740bps of market share in the domestic PV market over the last 2 years from the peak of 51%, according to brokerage firm data.

Maruti Suzuki, meanwhile, maintains that demand for PVs remains robust and it is the global shortage of semi-conductors that has resulted in lower volumes last fiscal. "The shortage of electronic components had some impact on the production of vehicles in FY 2021-22. The Company took all possible measures to minimise the impact. As the supply situation of electronic components continues to be unpredictable, it might have some impact on the production volume in FY 2022-23 as well," said the carmaker.

Taxpayers will need to disclose Interest on PF account in ITR

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

THE taxpayers will have to make additional disclosures in the Income Tax Return (ITR) forms as the government on Friday notified the ITR form 1-6. Those individuals, who make annual contribution of more than Rs 2.5 lakh in provident fund accounts, will have to mention interest earned on their PF accounts. Interest earned accrued on annual contributions to PF beyond Rs 2.5 lakh is taxable from 2021-22.

The new ITR forms also require one to mention if they have any income from retirement benefit account maintained in another country while they were a non-resident of India or a resident of that country. The Section 89A of the Income Tax Act prescribes relief from taxation in income from retirement benefit account maintained in a notified country. The taxpayer will now have to mention the relief amount claimed to be reduced from gross total salary.

The forms also require additional information on dividend income earned by non-resident entities, dividend income of FIIs and dividend income chargeable at tax treaty rates.

The new forms require loans and advances to large shareholders (10% or more), which are deemed dividend income, to be reported separately.

In ITR 2, 3, 4 and 5, one has to make additional disclosures for deduction of cost of acquisition of assets for calculation of capital gains under Section 48 of the Income Tax Act. In case of slump sale, where an entity is sold without separately taking into account the value of separate assets and liabilities, additional disclosure has to be made. Then there is a separate disclosure required in case of stock option benefits provided by eligible startups. "The trigger for taxation (in case of stock options) is deferred to the point of sale. A separate schedule has now been introduced to capture details of such deferment," said Saraswathi Kasturirangan, Partner, Deloitte India.

Commercial LPG cylinder price up by ₹249.50

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

THE price of a commercial liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) cylinder was increased on Friday by ₹249.50 to ₹2,253 per 19-kg cylinder.

This is the second hike within a month on commercial cylinders, used by commercial establishments like hotels and restaurants. The last time it rose by ₹105 per 19 kilogram cylinder in Delhi. However, there is no hike on domestic LPG. Meanwhile, Oil Marketing Companies have also hiked the price of Jet fuel prices by 2%, the seventh hike in the year. As per the price notification, Aviation turbine fuel (ATF) was hiked by ₹2,258.54 per kilolitre, to ₹1,12,924.83 per kl (₹112.92 per litre) in the national capital.

Indraprastha Gas Limited (IPL) has also increased the domestic Piped Natural Gas (PNG) by ₹5.85 per SCM from today. Following the hike, PNG price in the National Capital Region (NCR) would be ₹41.71/SCM.

Ever since the Oil companies have started resuming daily fuel price revision on 22 March 2022, the prices of LPG, petrol and diesel are on the rise. For instance, the price of petrol and diesel was increased ninth times in the past eleven days, taking the total hike to 6.40 per litre. Similarly, the price of domestic LPG cylinder has also been raised by over ₹50. Now 14.2-kg non-subsidised LPG cylinder costs ₹949.50 in the national capital.

ATF in Mumbai now costs ₹111,690.61 per kl, in Kolkata it costs ₹117,353.71 and in Chennai it costs ₹116.583.71. Jet fuel prices are supposed to be revised by OMCs on the 1st and 16th of every month based on the average international price. LPG rate changes once in a month. Aviation Turbine fuel, the fuel which helps to fly aeroplanes, has increased every fortnight in this year.

Finmin asks ministries not to issue 'Letter of Comfort' for projects

New Delhi: The finance ministry has asked other ministries and departments not to issue 'Letter of Comfort' to any hired entity for undertaking projects on their behalf, as part of efforts to improve transparency in fiscal management. Issuance of 'Letter of Comfort' by the ministries and department helps a vendor in achieving financial closure for a project in a faster manner. The authority to issue 'Letter of Comfort' by ministries or department or any entites of the Government of India stands withdrawn with immediate effect, an office memorandum issued on March 31 said. "Henceforth, no 'Letter of Comfort' will be issued by any entity within the government," it added.

Drillmec to invest 35 mn Euros in energy transition

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

DRILLMEC, a Piacenza-based company in the Oil and Gas sector, part of Indian infrastructure giant MEIL group, informed on Friday that its board has approved the investment plan for over 35 million euros in energy transition.

The company, jointly with the Indian parent company MEIL, will produce hydrogen through the most advanced technologies available such as electrolysis, pyrolysis, and the design and construction of CO2 capture and storage systems.

In this context, Drillmec has launched the company Idrogena, a start-up dedicated to the development and industrial production of a pyrolytic converter for the production of ultra-clean hydrogen.

"We are pleased to announce this new initiative in our country which is consistent with our history, which is to innovate and develop responsible and safe technologies capable of incorporate energy, social and environmental needs," said Simone Trevisani, CEO of Drillmec SpA.

The company said that with the converter, the production of hydrogen can take place at destination in a capillary manner, thus significantly reducing transport costs and working around the low energy content of hydrogen.

CIL produces 622.6 MTs in 2021-22, supplied most to power sector

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

AFTER shrinkage in the last two years, Coal India Limited (CIL) on Friday informed that it produced a whopping 622.6 million tonnes (MT) of coal in this fiscal 2021-22, eclipsing the previous high of 607 MT recorded in 2018-19.

This year, the state-owned CIL produced 26.4 MT more coal, compared to 596.2 MTs in 2020-21. The company's supply to the power sector soared to a record 540.4 MT with a whopping 95.4 MT volume increase. This represents 21.4% growth compared to 445 MT supplies of FY'21. Even compared to standard pandemic free FY '20 and FY'19, the growth in supplies to the power sector logged 16 % and 10% respectively. The sharp 95.4 MT supply expansion in FY'22 is higher than the collective increase achieved during the previous seven year period. Coal supplies to the power sector rose to 445 MT in 2020-21 from 353.8 MT in 2013-14, up by 91.2 MT.

"CIL has turned out a prolific performance, even as the second wave of COVID during the first quarter of FY, and the extended monsoon threatened CIL's production and loading operations. Handling volatility of coal demand from the power sector in the second half of the year was another challenge," said the company in a statement.

The company informed that the annual increment of 87.4 MT total off-take is more than the combined rise of 85.1 MT of the last six years, from 489.4 MT in 2014-15 to 574.5 MT in 2020-21. Its average loading at the highest ever level of 271.2 rakes per day grew by 12.3% compared to the average of 241.4 rakes loaded in FY'21.

This year, CIL has cleared 16 coal mining projects of which 7 are green field and 9 expansion projects. Combined, they have a total capacity of nearly 100 MT/Y and incremental capacity of 56.7 MT/Y.

IT, ITeS attract $8.3 billion investment across 256 deals in January-March 2022

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

IT and ITeS have attracted $8.3 billion across 256 deals from January-March 2022. The industry has witnessed a 93% growth compared to the January-March 2021 quarter that attracted $4.3 billion investments across 163 deals.

According to a report by Venture Intelligence, a research service focused on private company financials, transactions, and their valuations, deals in the tech industry were led by the investments in Swiggy and other unicorns including the Blockchain-focused Polygon ($450 million), enterprise voice tech focused Uniphore Software ($400 million), and analytics firm Fractal ($360 million).

The BFSI industry attracted about $1.2 billion across 12 deals during the first quarter of 2022, a 46% increase from the $824 million invested across 13 deals in the same quarter of previous year. The $486 million investment in publicly listed IIFL Wealth Management by Bain Capital topped the BFSI list, followed by Apollo Global Management-led $267 million investment in Hero Fincorp and the $200 million investment in Oxyzo Financial Services. With the decline in technology stock prices in the US, private market investors are likely to be much more selective in funding late-stage tech start-ups as compared to 2021, said Arun Natarajan, Founder, Venture Intelligence.

Also, Private Equity - Venture Capital (PE-VC) firms invested over $15.1 billion across 346 deals in Indian companies during the first three months of 2022. Deal volumes in the first quarter of 2022 showed a 35% growth compared to Q121.

Qatar Investment Authority's $1.5 billion investment in the new media and consumer technology-focused platform Bodhi Tree was the largest in the first quarter of this year.

"As the pandemic induced headwinds as well as tailwinds recede, we may witness PE-VC investors - who have already raised significant capital for their newer funds - focus on newer sectors and catalyse consolidation in some of the tech sectors," Natarajan said.

'Russia-Ukraine conflict may affect semiconductors supply'

THE supply chains of global semiconductor industry, which was badly affected during Covid-19, may see further disruptions due to the Russia-Ukraine conflict, Parliament was informed on Friday.

The conflict may have particular impact on the supply of neon and hexafluorobutadiene gases that are essential to manufacture semiconductor chips as these are used in the lithography processes for chip production, Minister of State for Electronics and IT Rajeev Chandrasekhar said in a written reply to the Rajya Sabha. Ukraine and Russia are major sources of neon and hexafluorobutadiene gases. "Russia-Ukraine conflict has impacted supply chains in numerous sectors, including semiconductor industry," the minister said.

He was responding to a question on whether the ongoing war between Russia and Ukraine will have a bearing on production of semiconductor chips and any adverse impact on the automobile industry.

"The Russia-Ukraine conflict might cause extra disruptions and affect supply chains of semiconductors." PTI

ICC Meet: Ramiz set to table proposal for 4-nation tourney

Pakistan Cricket Board chairman Ramiz Raja is all set to table a proposal for a 4-nation tournament involving India, Australia and England at the upcoming ICC Board Meeting but the BCCI is unlikely to play ball. As per the current ICC rule, only the global body has the right to organize an event which involves more than three countries.

STADIUM 974'S UNIQUE CALLING CARD

One of the eight stadia to host World Cup games is a one-of-its-kind facility that can be fully demountable

ASHIM SUNAM @ Doha

LOOKING from the sky before touching down at Doha's Hamad International Airport, Stadium 974 does not look all that different to other stadia. But when you reach the venue, its uniqueness stands out. The colourful recycled shipping containers grab immediate attention along with the visible modular steel framework.

The 40,000-seater venue has been given its name Stadium 974 — formerly known as Ras Abu Aboud — for two reasons. Apart from Qatar's international dialling number being 974, it is also the exact number of shipping containers that have been used in the overall makeup of the stadium. The latter was brought from China, and the construction was completed last year. Some of the containers at the stadium have been used for medical rooms among many other facilities.

Also, the modular design of the stadium meant less use of regular materials when compared to other stadiums across the world. It is one of the more cost-effective stadia in the upcoming edition of the World Cup, which starts in November, and the design has been done in such a way that it is naturally ventilated and the cool breeze from the sea is always a big plus.

What impresses one even further is how the stadium is the first of its kind in World Cup history as it is fully demountable. In fact, sustainability and legacy were always a part of Qatar's commitment when they bid to host the World Cup in the first place.

"This stadium and design are a great example of it (sustainability), because the legacy plans are very clear. What we are doing with this stadium is after the tournament we are avoiding the white elephant or a facility that has no use after the WC," said Stadium 974 manager Mohamed Alatwaan.

Once the quadrennial event is over, there are plenty of options, which they can explore. They can take the entire things elsewhere and build the same in a new country while they can also use the containers for shipping purposes. Their ideas have a full-scale potential to leave a legacy in the World Cup.

"We have flexibility in our design that we can rebuild the stadium in a different location with the same capacity. We can take the whole thing somewhere else. We have a strategy for this. Also, we have maintained the certification of the shipping containers, we can reuse the containers for shipping purposes, and the steel can be recycled for any construction. The location is available for any future development. It is a prime location with a great view of the Doha Skyline as well." he said.

BATTLE BETWEEN BATTING POWERHOUSES

Having lost their first match, Mumbai Indians will look to turn things around against Rajasthan Royals in Navi Mumbai...

SKY'S RETURN TO BOOST MI

Suryakumar Yadav is back in the squad after missing their opener due to the injury he sustained during the series against West Indies. He'll be walking to the XI, ready to make an impact in the middle overs.

DEATH BOWLING CONCERNS

After Nathan Coulter-Nile was taken apart by Washington Sundar in a night game, Rajasthan might give the all-rounder another game before bringing in Jimmy Neesham. With the game against Mumbai being an afternoon clash, they'd hope that the Australian has a better day at office.

SEEKING TO BUILD MOMENTUM

After the heist they pulled off against Lucknow, Gujarat Titans would want to put up a better all-round performance against Delhi in Pune...

SHAW VS SHAMI

Mohammed Shami was bowling like a dream with the new ball against Lucknow Super Giants. The contest between him and Prithvi Shaw is one to watch out for from Saturday night's clash. Both are key for the respective sides early on and could potentially change the course of the match.

DEW DEMON FOR SPINNERS

Kuldeep Yadav had a good game against Mumbai, but in a night game, with dew having a massive role to play, it could be difficult for him and his counterpart Rashid Khan to make an impact. It might all come down to toss, once again, to see which spinner has a relatively better day.

PUNJAB'S KNIGHT TO FORGET

AGENCIES @ Mumbai

UMESH Yadav continued his impressive run with the new ball as Kolkata Knight Riders stifled a power-laden Punjab Kings batting line-up to 137 all out before chasing down the total in 14.3 overs on Friday. Andre Russell top-scored with an unbeaten 70 off 31 balls. With heavy dew setting in later half of the games, KKR skipper Shreyas Iyer opted to bowl. Punjab enjoyed a good powerplay that yielded 62 for 3. Umesh (4/23), who has been proving his critics wrong this season, once again provided the breakthrough early in the game, removing opposition skipper Mayank Agarwal, who was found plumb in front after missing a rather straight and full delivery in the first over of the match.

Brief scores: Punjab Kings 137 in 18.2 ovs (Rajapaksa 31, Umesh 4/23, Southee 2/36) lost to Kolkata Knight Riders 141/4 in 14.3 ovs (Russell 70; Chahar 2/13).

IPL crowd capacity increased to 50 per cent

MUMBAI: IPL's ticketing partner BookMyShow on Friday said in a statement that audience capacity for the current season has been increased to 50 per cent from April 6 across the four venues in Maharashtra after the state government had on Thursday decided to do away with all the COVID restrictions, from April 2. Earlier, the capacity of the crowd was restricted to 25 percent.

Shreya firing aces on shooting range

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

SHOOTER Shreya Agrawal is on top of the provisional ranking issued by the National Rifle Association of India (NRAI) on March 30 after two selection trials. The top spot in the 10m air rifle women category means the shooter from Jabalpur, Madhya Pradesh is in pole position to make the national squad for the ISSF World Cup in Baku, Azerbaijan. But things were not the same a few months ago with the 21-year-old Shreya battling with serious issues on the personal front. Not only did she test positive for the virus twice but she also lost her father, Sanjay, to Covid. "I had been into shooting because of my father but he passed away last year. I took a month off but joined the camp for reserve shooters held in New Delhi ahead of the Olympics as there was a possibility of getting in the squad if a selected shooter was not performing," Shreya told this daily.

A couple of months after the Tokyo Games, the national shooting championship was held in November-December and she did well in the event to book a slot for herself in the national squad for her maiden senior World Cup in Cairo.

After two years of low-key celebrations, the city is prepping for a joyous Ugadi. On this occasion, prominent Bengalureans share with CE their plans and preparations for the day and year ahead

FEAST, FESTIVALS & FERVOUR

Sharmiela Mandre

EXPRESS FEATURES

THIS Ugadi holds a special place for many. It's after two years that celebrations will have some semblance to the pre-pandemic ones. Even those like actor Sharmiela Mandre, who are not in the city at the moment, are soaking in the festive fervour. "Ugadi is very close to my heart because as long as I can remember, this is one festival that I celebrated with so much excitement during my childhood," recalls Mandre, adding that she usually starts the day with a pooja which is followed by an elaborate and traditional lunch with the entire family decked out for the occasion.

Since the festival marks the start of a new year, according to Mandre, it gives an opportunity for people to start something new. "It is a good time to restart on a fresh note with a positive mindset," says Mandre.

On the other hand, Hemamalini Maiya, managing partner of MTR Restaurants, who has just returned from London after the launch of their newly-opened franchise, is looking forward to celebrating Ugadi in the city. "We usually don't plan anything for the year ahead, but this time I'm hoping we can return to our old routine completely," says Maiya, who is also gearing up for the 100th anniversary celebrations of the joint.

This year, badminton coach Anup Sridhar hopes to up his coaching game to ensure that Karnataka and India have more badminton champions. "I would like to train my students as per the latest badminton trends and keep them up to date on the current game dynamics," says Sridhar.

Anup Sridhar

As a musical artiste, Ugadi holds a lot of significance. And flautist Pravin Godkhindi is hoping that lady luck will shine on him to turn his book, Prahara Haduva Gadiyara (or The Singing Clock) into a feature film.

While Kannadigas celebrate Ugadi today, Maharashtrians are marking the occasion with Gudi Padwa. Ambika Ghorpade, who hails from the royal lineage of Sandur, is keeping the festival simple with authentic Maharashtrian food. "Having lived in Bengaluru, we don't do too much, except for preparing traditional favourites, puran poli and puri-shrikhand," says Ghorpade.

GRUB HUB

Debolina Ray, a Bengaluru-based food & travel blogger who runs a blog called She Knows Grub, dishes out fun food-related trivia in this weekly series. So, answer these three questions and find out how much of a foodie you are

THE QUIZ WILL BE PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY

Send answers to bengalurucityexpress@gmail.com with the subject line 'Food quiz'

The correct answers and names of the first three respondents with right answers will be featured in CE on Monday. The first prize winner this week will win a complimentary voucher worth ₹2,000 from Louis Burger

1. It's Ugadi and time to celebrate with some great food. Starting easy, this side salad is healthy and crunchy and an absolute essential for the festival. It's topped with grated carrots, coconuts - what's this called?

2. Rice is a key staple in the feast, but with flavours of course. No hints in this one, name the two varieties you're bound to see in a Ugadi thali?

3. This is a notable element of the festival that combines all the flavours, as folklore has it, to symbolise the emotions of life. Name this side/drink and also the ingredient that imparts a bitter flavour to it.

FIT BIT

EKA PADA SALABHASANA

(ONE LEGGED LOCUST POSE)

This asana is a simple, intermediate pose of salabhasana. Regular practice of this asana supports spinal health, improves digestion, and reduces excess fat in the thighs, hips and buttocks. Mentally, this alleviates stress, treats mild depression and promotes vitality. It stimulates the Muladhara (root) chakra, which is located at the base of the coccyx. Muladhara, which is said to represent the beginning of life, is associated with vitality, stability and promotes balance.

STEPS

- Lie flat on the stomach, chin to the floor.
- Stretch the chin slightly forward.
- Make a fist with your hands and keep them under the thighs.
- Then, you can keep both the legs straight throughout the practice.
- Now, breathe in and raise the right leg as high as possible, using the back muscles.
- Keep the left leg straight and in contact with the floor. Ensure that the hips stay on the ground, and the pelvis remains in a neutral position.
- You should be aware of the pressure on the lower back and the lower abdomen.
- Stay in the posture for about 30 seconds to a minute or as long as possible, without strain.
- Exhale while lowering the leg to the starting position. Repeat the same process with the left leg.
- This completes one round. Finally, you can relax for a while.
- If you are comfortable, you can practice two or three rounds.
- If the dynamic practice is done, then raise and lower the legs on the inhale-exhale cycle.

BENEFITS

- Strengthens the shoulders and neck muscles.
- Helps to firm thighs, hips and buttocks.
- Regular practice can help control diabetes.
- Gives flexibility to the back muscles and spine.
- Gives relief to those with chronic constipation and flatulence.
- Helps improve circulation of blood in the body.
- Women with ovaries and uterus disorders can benefit from this pose.
- Increases the flexibility of the lumbar region.
- Gives relief to those with slip disc.
- It relieves gastric troubles.

LIMITATIONS

- Those with stomach ulcer, colitis, hernia or lumbar spondylosis, headaches, leg cramps, and pregnant women should not do this.
- People suffering from back pain, consult a yoga teacher.

When the World was Created
Legends Related to Ugadi

Ugadi is also called Yugadi, the word Yugadi is a combination of the words 'Yuga' and 'Adi'. It means the start of the new yuga or the calendar.

There are many stories that are associated with the day of Ugadi. Some of the stories point to the origin of the festival and the others tell us why certain rituals are done the way they are on Ugadi.

The Origin Of Ugadi

The most important story of Ugadi is perhaps the one associated with the creation of the world as we know it. It is said that when Lord Brahma woke up, he began creating the universe. Lord Brahma started this work of creation on the day that we today celebrate as Ugadi. This was the day on which all of the living and non-living things were conceived in the mind of Lord Brahma.

Yugadhikrit, or the creator of the Yugas, is the name bestowed on Lord Maha Vishnu. This is because though Lord Brahma created the universe, it is Lord Vishnu who created time and hence, Yugas. Lord Vishnu is also responsible of the up-keep of all the creations.

Only festival In honour of Brahma

The scriptures tell us that once Lord Brahma was captured by Moh Maya. Under the influence of Maya, he lusted after Goddess Saraswati. Goddess Saraswati is considered to be Lord Brahma's daughter and in lusting for her, Lord Brahma had sinned. As a punishment, Lord Vishnu cut one of Lord Brahma's four heads. Lord Shiva cursed Lord Brahma that he would never be worshipped by the people. As a result, even today, there is no pooja done in honour of Lord Brahma and there are very few temples dedicated to him. Ugadi is perhaps the only festival that exalts Lord Brahma.

King Shalivahana

The calendar that is followed in the region that lies in the Vindhya dates back to the time when the Satavahana King Shalivahana ruled the land. He is also known as Gautamiputra Satakarni. He a legendary hero who founded the Shalivahana Shaka or empire and started the Shalivahana era. The calendar starts at 78 AD of the Gregorian calendar.

Lord Rama's Rajyabhishek

It is said that the day on which Lord Rama arrived in Ayodhya is celebrated as Diwali. The day of Chaitra Paadyami is celebrated as the day on which Lord Rama was crowned the King of Ayodhya. The day is so auspicious that it was chosen for the coronation of Lord Rama.

Lord Krishna's Death

At the end of the Dwapara Yuga, the sons and grandsons of Lord Krishna perished in a fight which was a result of a curse. The curse also led to the death of Lord Krishna when an arrow struck him. It is said that he passed away on the day of Ugadi. Lord Ved Vyasa said - Yesmin Krishno divamvyataha, Tasmat eeva pratipannam Kaliyugam

Arrival Of Kali Yuga

The death of Lord Krishna marked the end of Dwapara Yuga and the start of the Kali Yuga. As the Lord Krishna passed away on the day of Chaitra Shuddha Paadyami, it is the day that the Kali Yuga began.

The Story Behind Mango Leaves

According to a story, Narada Muni took a mango to Lord Shiva. Both Lord Ganesha and Lord Kartikeya wanted to have the mango. Lord Shiva proposed that a contest be held between two of his sons. He said that whoever goes around the world and comes back first shall receive the fruit. Lord Kartikeya hopped on his peacock and started his journey, whereas Lord Ganesha went around his parents, as they were his world. After this incident, Lord Kartikeya said that all entrances to the homes shall be decorated with mango leaves in the memory of this incident.

Matsya Avatar

It is said that Lord Maha Vishnu took matsya avatar three days after the day of Ugadi. This avatar was taken to save the world and its living things from the deluge or the Pralaya.

THE SCIENCE BEHIND THE FESTIVITY

SADHGURU

Chandramana Ugadi is the beginning of a new year as per the lunisolar calendar largely followed by the Indian people for many millennia. As in everything else that comes from the East, even the calendar is in terms of what it does to the human physiology and consciousness. The tilt of the globe renders the northern hemisphere to receive the highest amount of the Sun's energy during the 21-day period that starts from Ugadi.

In preparation for this hottest period of the year in tropical latitudes, it is a tradition that people start this segment of the year with elaborate application of cooling oils like castor. Unlike the modern calendars of the day, which ignore human experience in relation to the planetary movement, the lunisolar calendar (chandramana - souramana panchanga) takes into account the experience and impact that is happening to the human being and hence, the calendar being adjusted to latitudes.

Ugadi is not celebrated as the New Year just as part of a belief system or a convenience – there is a science behind it which enhances human wellbeing in many different ways. The profoundness of what this nation has been is being rubbished today simply because some other nations have moved ahead of us economically. We will also soon move ahead economically, but the profoundness that this culture carries cannot be created in a few years' time; this is the outcome of thousands of years of work.

A simple thing you can do to start your new year is when you pick up your telephone, don't just say "hello" or "hi" or something else. Say "Namaste" or "Namaskar" or "Namaskaram" or "Vanakkam". There is a significance to uttering such words in your life – where what you say or do to God, you do to everyone around you. This is the best way to live.

If something is sacred for you and something else is not, then you are missing the whole point. Make this New Year a possibility for you to recognize this divinity in every human being.

GANESH-PREETHAM GUBBI'S FILM TITLED

BAANADARIYALLI

CE FEATURES

WE had previously reported that actor Ganesh and Preetham Gubbi are teaming up for a project. Now the makers have officially announced the project with a first look poster on the occasion of Ugadi. Titled Baandariyalli-Nodu Enta Chanda!, the film is said to be a adventure drama with an ample dose of love. It also has references to Africa. The actor-director duo has earlier worked in films like Mungaru Male, Maleyali Jotheyali, and Dil Rangeela.

Preetham reveals that the story of Baanadariyalli is written by noted cinematographer Preetha Jayaraman and he has penned the screenplay. "Preetha and I have worked on this script for 2 years. We are eagerly waiting to kick start shooting."

Ganesh and Preetham Gubbi

The project is currently in the pre-production stage, the team plans to go on floors by mid-May. Interestingly, composer V Harikrishna, who is busy directing Darshan's Kranti will be scoring music for Baanadariyalli. The film's cinematography will be handled by Abhilash Kalathi and Deepu S Kumar is the editor. The dialogues for the film will be penned by Maasthi. The makers have Chethan D Souza handling the stunt choreography.

Ganesh meanwhile is waiting for the release of Yogaraj Bhat's Gaalipata 2 and Mahesh Gowda's Tribble Riding.

The story of this adventure love drama is penned by cinematographer Preetha Jayaraman; screenplay by director himself

HOME MINISTER: ENTERTAINER ADDRESSES IMPORTANT ISSUE

A SHARADHAA

UPENDRA'S Home Minister is a film that has detailed conversations aiming to deliver an overall impactful message. Despite having a promising motive, the film struggles through the first half. It is the latter part that delivers, with a few misses. The screen presence of Upendra majorly makes up for the setbacks.

HOME MINISTER
Cast: Upendra, Vedhika, Tanya Hope, Avinash, Sadhu Kokila
Director: Sri Hari Naanu

Renuka Prasad (Upendra) quits his job and leads a life as a homemaker, taking care of his daughter, has friendly banter with the neighbours, is a favourite among all the women living in the gated community, and is the 'one-stop solution' for all their problems. Surekha (Vedhika), his wife, who is a well-known journalist is disturbed by his behaviour, and her attempt to get him back to work fails. Circumstances lead Renuka Prasad to participate in a reality show, for which he has no choice but to dress like a woman. Renuka's real identity is revealed halfway through the show. "Will he continue to be part of the show?", "Why does an exemplary employee quit the job to become a homemaker?" is answered as the narrative progresses.

RATING 2.5/5

The film by Sujay K Srihari is entertaining and also has a good social awareness message. Though Home Minister saw a delay, the film's content makes more sense now in the pandemic world, where couples are forced to raise their kids indoors during lockdowns.

Although he intends to deliver a good message, Sujay falters because of a weak screenplay. The cliched scenes and unwarranted comedy episodes featuring Sadhu Kokila are in bad taste. Upendra, who has understood the formula of entertainment, perfectly fits into the character. Vedhika has played her part well. Actors Tanya Hope, Suman Ranganath, Malavika Avinash and Vijay Chendoor appear in pivotal roles and deliver memorable performances.

Home Minister is a family entertainer that aims to tell a powerful message to young parents. Hope it reaches its target audience and becomes a conversation starter.

SANCHARI'S MAGIC ALL THE WAY

TALEDANDA
Cast: Sanchari Vijay, Mangala N, B Suresh, Mandya Ramesh, Ramesh Pandit, Chaitra Achar, Bhavani Prakash
Director: Praveen Krupakar

A SHARADHAA

DIRECTOR Praveen Krupakar deserves applause for taking up the theme of environment conservation and drawing a stellar performance from Sanchari Vijay; unfortunately in one of his last films. With a powerful narrative, the film is equally aided by its performances. The film provides great scope to the director and actors, who make brilliant usage of the opportunity.

RATING 2.5/5

Revolving around Kunna aka Kunnegowda (Sanchari Vijay) who belongs to the Soliga tribe, the film highlights his affection for nature, his knowledge about various species of trees, and his undying desire to preserve nature. Suffering from moderate mental retardation, Kunna lives with his mother, Kethamma (Mangala) when the Government of Karnataka sanctions a road plan from his village to the highway. The plan disturbs the MLA of the area it costs him 450 acres of land. He conspires with officials in land acquisition resulting in the afforestation of over 140 trees. This provokes Kunna and he bravely opposes the plan and even writes a letter to the Chief Minister. What happens next, forms the rest of the plot.

Amid commercial potboilers and larger than life dramas, Taledanda is a novel and honest attempt by Praveen Krupakar. Both Sanchari Vijay and Mangala deliver extraordinary performances. Other than a few disturbing and repetitive episodes, the flow remains seamless.

The fact that Taledanda is a film set in the backdrop of nature makes for a visual spectacle by cinematographer Ashok Kashyap.

The events that happen in Kunna and Kethamma have the potential to enlighten people about climatic changes if taken seriously.
